Bus Plummets Down Mountainside

This battered bus lies on its side in a creek bed near Grand Forks, B.C. after careering 400 feet down a mountainside Sunday. Only five of the 40 to 50 passengers were hurt seriously enough to require hospital treatment. Police said injuries were light because passengers were crowded into the bus with little room to be tumbled about.

Railways May Seek Rate Hike

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP).—The railways probably will file an application for increased freight rates shortly, informed quarters said today.

The proposed increase will be based on higher labor costs growing out of the long wage-hour dispute between the railways and their unions which was settled yesterday in an arbitration award by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Extent of the increase to be sought was known yet, but informants said it may take one of two forms.

1. A rate increase of the amount necessary to cover the $50,000,000-a-year bill added to the railway's annual labor costs by a seven-cents-an-hour wage boost, now in effect.

2. An increase to cover that amount now, plus a delayed-action application based on the end of the shortened work week and taking effect when the short week again starts next June 1.

The additional cost of the wage increase alone is equivalent to the annual yield from a rate increase of about one per cent.

However, railway finances generally would have to be considered in determining the size of any freight-rate hoist. It appeared likely the initial increase sought would lie somewhere between six and ten per cent.

More problematical is the total rate increase required to cover the new cost of the five-day, 40-hour week that goes into effect on the railways next June 1.

The companies have estimated its cost at more than $80,000,000 though the rail unions rail this figure exaggerated and Mr. Justice Kellock indicated he did not accept it.

The forthcoming application will be for the third round of rate increases since the war.

BULLETINS

Toll High

TOKIO, Dec. 21 (Thursday) (AP).—General MacArthur's headquarters said today United Nations casualties during the Korean war "disaster" since November 27 period totaled nearly 13,000. These included the killed, wounded and missing for all Allied forces except those of the Republic of Korea.

Red Jet Damaged

U.S. SIXTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Dec. 21 (Thursday) (INS).—Two American sabrejets tangled with two Russian-built MIG-15 jet planes over the Western Manchurian border today and one enemy craft was damaged.

Girl Wounded

SAYBORN, Miss., Dec. 20 (AP).—A 16-year-old girl, helping her mother clean a church for Christmas, was shot and critically wounded today by an elderly junk dealer who then killed himself in the church. The girl's infant brother was also wounded.

No Reply Yet Received To Earlier Message

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 20 (AP).—The United Nations has sent a second cease-fire appeal to the Chinese Communists, setting forth that a halt in the Korean fighting will greatly improve prospects for talks the Communists want on a general settlement of Asian problems.

The message was sent by the three-man United Nations cease-fire committee Tuesday night after the Red China delegate, Wu Hsiu-chuan, turned a deaf ear to cease-fire pleas and left with his delegation for home.

Before departure Wu said a cease-fire could be obtained in Korea only after withdrawal of foreign—United Nations—troops from Korea and a free election by the Peiping Government.

NO PROMISE

The latest message to Peiping the committee's second, gave no promise that negotiations for settlement of all Far Eastern problems would follow if the Communists agreed to a cease-fire.

It noted, however, that an Asian-Arab proposal for such negotiations is awaiting General Assembly action. The committee said the resolution was certain to receive greater consideration if a cease-fire was in effect.

As yet there has been no answer from Peiping either to the committee's first cease-fire appeal for a continuation of cease-fire talks, in Peiping if necessary, or to Tuesday night's committee action.

Unless the Chinese have an unexpected change of heart, the United Nations cease-fire committee is expected to report after the New Year's holiday that it retired strange before the fighting in Korea.

AWAIT REACTION

This forecast on the committee's final report was made in United Nations Assembly circles as the three-man committee sat back to wait for Peiping reaction.

The committee was set up by the General Assembly with instructions to see if there is any basis on which a cease-fire in Korea can be worked out. It talked first with Ernest A. Gross, deputy United States delegate to the United Nations, and Lt.-Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, United States member of the United Nations military staff committee and commanding general of the United States First Army. The Americans represented the unified command under Gen. MacArthur and are reported to have given the committee an indication of the unified command's cease-fire terms.

The Senegal Bay of India, a committee member, then talked with Wu Hsiu-chuan, Chinese Communist representative here, but received no word from Wu which could be called progress. Then the committee sent a request to the Chinese Communist government in Peiping for a talk on cease-fire conditions. No reply has been received.

Pull In Outposts, Hoover Tells U.S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP).—Herbert Hoover called on the United States tonight to make the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans its frontiers—not Continental Europe or Asia—and to "arm our air and naval forces to the teeth" to defend them.

The United States alone can thus prevent any "positive invasion of the Western Hemisphere by Communist armies," he said.

The former president said, "It is clear that the United Nations are defeated in Korea." And he declared that "we shall be inviting another Korea" by feeding more men and money to Western Europe unless and until it organizes its own defenses.

"We have little need for large armies unless we are going to Europe or China.

"Any attempts to make war on the Communist mass by land invasion, through the quicksands of China, India or Western Europe would be sheer folly," he said in a prepared radio address.

END IN EXHAUSTION

"That would be the graveyard of millions of American boys and would end in the exhaustion of the Christian war of Western civilization."

Hoover said the prime responsibility for defending Western Continental Europe rested upon the countries of Europe.

He said that Western Europe, to succeed further aid, "must express itself in organized and equipped combat divisions of such huge numbers as would erect a sure dam against the Red flood."

"And let there we land another man or another dollar on their shores," said the former Republican President. "Otherwise we shall be inviting another Korea. That would be a calamity to Europe as well as to us."

The United Nations have been defeated in Korea, he said, by the aggression of Communist China, and there are no world forces adequate in reply to the Chinese.

Communist reserves, he said, only a day after President Truman pledged more American troops would be sent to Europe to aid the West European defence setup headed by American Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Hoover called for arming the U.S. navy and air force "to the teeth" to hold the two oceans, with possibly one frontier on Britain and the other at Japan, Formosa and the Philippines.

"We have little need for large armies," he said, "unless we are going to Europe or China."

Ne-Nard that American sea and air power alone could control the Atlantic and Pacific and block any possible invasion by Communist armies, but added:

"I devoutly hope that a maximum of co-operation can be established between the British Commonwealth and ourselves."

Alberta Town Hit By $250,000 Fire

RYLEY, Alta., Dec. 20 (CP) — A $250,000 fire tonight raged for four hours, destroying almost all of one side of Ryley's main street, before being brought under control by hundreds of firefighters from about ten Northern Alberta towns.

About half a dozen buildings were destroyed by the 200-foot-long wall of fire which shot flames high into the air and endangered much of the rest of the town of 800 population with fiery sparks.

Burned to the ground were buildings housing a butcher shop, garage, hardware, machine agency, service station, electrical equipment shop, grocery store and one restaurant. Heavily damaged was another restaurant and an egg-grading station.

One man, an unidentified garage mechanic, was burned and taken to hospital at nearby Tofield. The blaze, said to have been touched off by an explosion, started in the garage in the centre of the street.

Three families living in rooms above the destroyed buildings were made homeless.

"We were saved by the lack of wind and the assistance given by neighboring towns who rushed fire fighting crews here after I issued an appeal for fire fighters," said Mayor John Kordich. He made the damage estimate.

BULLDOZERS HELP

Bulldozers played an important part in checking the blaze. They moved away threatened buildings, including half of the egg-grading station where the fire's march was stopped.

Mayor Kordich said it was the worst fire in the history of the town, about 45 miles southeast of Edmonton. His hotel, the 40-room Alberta, was within 50 feet of the fire but was saved.

Also saved was a lumber yard which lost one small shed to the flames.

Manila Planes Spot Wreck

MANILA, Dec. 21 (Thursday) (AP).—Clark Air Force Base announced this wreckage of a missing United States C-54 transport carrying 37 persons was sighted today near the peak of 9,200-foot Mount Pulog in Central Luzon. Search pilots reported no sign of life.

The big plane disappeared near the end of a flight from Okinawa. It last was heard from Tuesday morning when within 30 minutes of its destination, Clark Air Base.

The plane was not completely destroyed, the Clark Field spokesman said. There had been a small fire and the craft was still smoldering when several of the search pilots directed it today.

Companies Asked to Give Notice of Price Boosts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—The United States Government asked 350 large companies outside the automobile industry tonight to give it at least seven days' advance notice before raising prices on any major products.

If the companies comply, it will give the Government a chance to study proposed price boosts and to ask or order their abandonment in cases where officials decide the increases would be unjustified.

Alan Valentine, administrator of the Economic Stabilization Agency, telegraphed the business firms a request for such advance notice of price increases on any line in which they do an annual business of $500,000 or more.

His telegram said the information is desired "to help our efforts to combat inflation."

Valentine advised General Motors Corporation in another telegram that its request for a modification of the auto price rollback has been turned down.

General Motors contends the auto price rollback is discriminatory and has stopped selling new Chevrolets, Pontiacs and Cadillacs.

Train Crashes With Two Cars

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 20 (INS).—A 20-year-old Granville, Mich., mother and four of her children were killed tonight in a collision between their car and a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train out of Chicago.

The same train involved in this accident, collided with a truck at Michigan City, Ind., a few hours earlier and the truck driver was killed.

Congress Divided on Hoover Plan For Shortening Defence Lines

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—Members of Congress split sharply tonight on former President Herbert Hoover's speech saying the defence lines of the United States should be the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and the important islands in them, and not European or Asian land masses.

For example Senator Robert Taft (Rep., Ohio) said, he agreed with "many of the general principles" Hoover stated, while Senator Herbert Lehman (Dem., N.Y.) objected that the speech was "a plea for a return to complete isolationism."

There was no immediate comment from the White House or administration officials.

Taft told reporters:

"My Hoover presents very forcefully a point of view which certainly should have the immediate attention of the Congress."

Senator Lehman said:

"I do not agree with President Hoover that a defence line must be the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. I believe that our position is essential to the strengthening of our friends and allies in Europe and in other parts of the world."

SENATE RATIFICATION

The Senate Republican leader, Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, said any agreement to commit U.S. foot soldiers to Western Europe ought to have Senate ratification. He said Hoover's speech bolstered that approach.

Senator Richard Russell (Dem., Ga.), commented that he thought the joint chiefs of staff were better equipped than any civilian to pass on the size of the army, navy and air force. However, the U.S. had little need of large armies "unless we are going to Europe or China."

Senator Patrick McCarran (Dem., Nev.), said there was one element left out of Hoover's speech, and he was sorry it had not been called to the former President's attention.

"The element left out was the internal security of the United States," McCarran said. "We may have enough armies abroad, but we are not doing enough to block Communism at home."

Mother, Sons Die in Crash On Mainland

MISSION, B.C., Dec. 20 (CP).—Two sons and their mother were killed tonight when their car overturned in a water-filled ditch.

The only survivor of the accident, which occurred between Hatzic and Dewdney in the Fraser Valley, was the father of the family, John Victor Mack, 38.

Dead are his sons, James Victor, 11, Gerald Victor, 8 and his 39-year-old wife, Margaret.

"Swift Arrest in Store"

Police Chief Warns of Crackdown On Drunk Drivers During Holiday

A solemn pre-Christmas warning that drunken drivers will be dealt with to the fullest extent of the law was issued yesterday by Victoria Police Chief John Blackstock.

"I have instructed my officers not to tolerate any drunken driving. Swift arrest is in store for any driver who is drunk at the wheel," declared the chief.

He also announced that his department was willing to take care of the car of any driver who thinks he is drunk and in such an extent that he is incapable of driving properly.

A driver who finds himself in this situation should inform the police department of the whereabouts of his car. We will take care of it. He should then take a taxi or get a lift with a friend to get to his destination," advised Chief Blackstock. "The protection can claim the car at the police station after he has ordered up."

TOO MANY CHARGED

Obviously concerned about the prospects of the festive season in this respect, the chief recalled that this time last year saw too many persons charged with drunken driving.

"For the protection of everybody, including the offenders, police will exercise a tough policy towards drivers who insist on mixing drinking and driving," remarked the chief.

He added that a happy party could quickly be transformed to tragedy in the event of an accident.

"The automobile is not a toy, but has been a better mix".

Articles to Sum Up Views Of Eisenhower on Russians

GENERAL Dwight D. Eisenhower's views on the Russians are outlined in series of articles by International News Service's Bob Considine, beginning today on Page 13 of The Colonist.

In the series, Considine shows how General Eisenhower was disillusioned by the Russians after first-hand relations with Soviet leaders in Berlin and Moscow. Where United States occupation forces toed the line regarding the Potsdam Agreement, the Russians, and General Eisenhower, took advantage of United States officialdom at every opportunity.

General Eisenhower, now commander of the international army to defend Western Europe, is embarked on a monumental task and Considine shows that General Eisenhower's personal experience with the Russian leaders will guide the former United States supreme commander in attempting to block Soviet ambitions.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

The Liquor Control Board warns its customers that "one out of every five drivers involved in fatal accidents had been drinking."

Maybe so. But on the other hand, at least four out of every five drivers involved in fatal accidents were sober. Doesn't that point a grim finger at sobriety as the cause of accidents?

We agree that drunken driving is a bad thing. But statistics can often be doubtful allies in a worth-while campaign.

So one out of every five drivers involved in fatal accidents had been drinking, eh? But perhaps one out of every five people you meet has also been drinking.

Suppose the L.C.B. came out with an announcement like this:

"A survey shows that one out of every five pedestrians on Douglas Street during the week before Christmas has been drinking."

Nobody bothers to make surveys like that, because they don't prove anything most people want to prove. Again, suppose someone came out with this—

"Five out of five drivers involved in fatal accidents were found to have eaten potatoes within the previous 24 hours."

Almost anything seems dangerous after the statistical treatment. For instance:

"Nine out of ten men convicted of theft this week were found to have been engaged in Christmas shopping. Police officials appealed to the public to 'stamp out the Christmas shopping menace.'"

"Six hundred out of 1,000 men and women sentenced to prison terms this year had blue eyes. Observers are predicting a Province-wide crackdown on blue-eyed men and women as potential criminals."

Whose home is whose castle?

A fire chief has clamped a "no smoking" ban on an apartment-dweller because he burned holes in floors and bedding.

The landlord laid the complaint. Now nobody—even visitors—may smoke in the suite while it is occupied by its present tenant.

This ruling, sorely-needed though it may have been, seems to mark another victory for the army of meddlers and another defeat for the champions of private rights. But it brings us face to face with the big paradox of the age. A man has the right to live alone and free from supervision, but he doesn't have the right to burn the house down.

I suppose we'll never solve that problem until we all sleep between asbestos sheets in big fireproof dormitories.

Until this ideal state of affairs comes about, we will probably be plagued by an army of nicotine police who march from door to door confiscating all our pipes, cigarettes and cigars, which rank among the few private pleasures we have left in this socially conscious world.

Not long after I wrote that piece about typographical gremlins, the gremlins dealt this column a foul blow.

I wrote a piece which began something like this:

"Bill Baird, a bright citizen who masquerades under the name of Leighton Matthews, has come up with some sound ideas for improving Victoria."

The way it came out after the printers and the gremlins had finished with it was something like this:

"Bill Baird, a bright citizen who masquerading under the name of Bill Baird, a bright citizen masquerading under the name of improving Victoria."

It took me all day to cool down. Colleague John Jones felt he should break into song, as follows:

THRENODY

"This dirge is for Mort
Who suffered a sort
Of trauma today
When a line went astray
In his column, and hence
It didn't make sense."

Canadian Strength Lags Below Manpower Limit

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP).—The armed forces are still 8,000 men short of their manpower ceiling after more than four months of intensive recruiting backed by the emphasis of Korea and a darkening world picture, it was disclosed today.

The Defence Department, reporting that the forces could handle twice as many recruits as they have been getting, released figures showing that as of November 30 the three regular services and the army's Special Force had 81,000 men compared to a ceiling of 89,000.

At the present rate—around 1,000 men a month—it would be late next year before the ceiling was reached, a factor which is found to occupy the mind of Cabinet Ministers in the weeks ahead, for further expansion of Canada's defence effort is believed shaping up.

ACADEMIC MOVE

It has been anticipated that the present ceiling will be lifted, although any such action at this stage, without something beyond voluntary recruiting to back it up, would be largely an academic move.

The big hope now is that the higher pay rates for the forces announced last week and the lure of service in Europe or elsewhere overseas will attract men who apparently don't want to serve at home.

There has been speculation that the Government will aim for armed forces 100,000 strong, but it is considered doubtful here that any such size is possible without some form of compulsory service.

NO INDICATION

So far there is no sign of the Cabinet resorting to compulsory service.

On July 20, the day the Cabinet set an unprecedented peacetime recruiting campaign in motion, the forces had 46,899 men, including 9,246 in the Navy, 20,369 in the Army and 17,284 in the R.C.A.F.

On November 30 the three regular forces had 50,725, including 10,184 in the Navy, 22,065 in the Army and 18,478 in the R.C.A.F.

Thus, excluding the Special Force, the regular forces have gone up by about 4,000 in more than four months.

The Special Force strength now is given as 10,381, including 685 officers and men posted from the regular army.

Honor Trustee For Her Work

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 20.—On behalf of the Board of School Trustees of District No. 70, Mrs. D. M. Hunt, chairman, presented a flower bowl to Mrs. J. Skipsey in recognition of her 14 years' service as a trustee first on the Alberni School Board, and for the past four years as a member of the Consolidated School Board of District No. 70.

"It is not often that we have a trustee retiring after 14 years' service. She never thought of herself, but always of the children and has given untiring service," Mrs. Hunt remarked.

Mrs. Skipsey thanked board members for their kind thought, and replied: "I will watch your deliberations with interest in the months to come. Please let them be deliberations and do not jump to decisions too quickly."

All Troops Alerted In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 20 (AP).—Warning that another world war seems near, Premier Ali Razmara said today he has put on the alert all Iranian army garrisons including those facing Russian frontier forces.

He did not identify the source of his fear, although since the Korean outbreak Iranians and Western Diplomats here have speculated whether this petroleum-wealthy country, Asia's biggest oil producer, might be next on the Communist timetable.

But, reiterating Iran's desire to remain neutral, Razmara told the Senate:

"If anybody attacks us, we will defend ourselves."

Razmara formerly was the Iranian army chief of staff.

MOUNTAIN SCREEN

Although Iranian outposts dot the 600-mile border, behind which Soviet strength is screened by the 12,000-foot South Caucasus Range, the 150,000-man army's prepared positions are well back of the line. Razmara was quoted in May, 1948, as saying the best the West could hope for in Iran, should Russia attack, would be a delaying action.

Informed sources have in the past reported extensive Russian troop and weapons movements opposite Iran, but there has not been anything to indicate any unusual build-up of strength. Last May, Russia accused Iran of using United States experts to take aerial photographs of the frontier. This was denied.

Woman Driver Looks to Future

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 20 (AP).—The clerk in the Drivers' Licence Bureau was checking the woman's application.

He came to the applicant's weight and looked at her again.

"Lady," he said, "it says here 135 pounds. That can't be right."

"Oh yes, it is," she replied. "It takes six weeks for these licences to go through, and that's what I'm going to weigh after I reduce."

The clerk, a gentleman, let it ride.

French Pledge Hanoi Defence

HAIPHONG, Vietnam, Indo-China, Dec. 20 (AP).—Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, the new French high commissioner in Indo-China, today assured officers of his command that Communist-endangered Hanoi will be defended.

Hanoi is the major city of North Indo-China and the Western Bastion of French defences around the Red River delta area embracing the China Sea port of Haiphong.

It was in Hanoi that fighting first broke out four years ago between the French and the Rebel Vietminh forces of the Moscow-educated Ho Chi Minh.

De Tassigny promised officers there would be reinforcements in armaments, planes and ships.

U.S. Congress Hurries to Act On $20,000,000,000 Arms Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—Congress rushed action today on a $20,000,000,000 defence bill but Republican leaders in the Senate and House of Representatives balked at reviving some of President Truman's sweeping World War powers.

The House passed and sent to the Senate the defence bill by a vote of 247 to 1.

Representative Clare Hoffman (Rep., Mich.) was the lone dissenter.

There was no haggling over money to speed the United States rearmament program—more troops, guns, tanks, planes, ships and atomic weapons—on a far larger scale than envisaged before the Korean War began.

ADDED TO FUNDS

In fact, the Senate appropriations committee wrote in more than $2,000,000,000 over and above the huge funds already approved by the House, and considerably more than Truman himself requested.

The House had acted before Truman and defence leaders sent additional requests to strengthen the country's fighting forces.

The largest increase tacked on by the Senate group was $1,834,911,000 for stockpiling such vital war materials as rubber, tin, and other scarce items.

The Senators approved every nickel of the $16,845,181,000 passed by the House for the army, navy and air force. The army gets about $8,000,000,000, the navy $3,000,000,000 and the air force about $4,500,000,000.

Besides approving every item voted by the House, the Senate committee passed many new items.

The list included $1,080,000,000 to speed up the production of atomic weapons and the development of the hydrogen bomb.

Senate Gets Measure For Defence

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—A master plan for civil defence—designed to prepare the United States to deal with the dangers and problems of atomic attack—was approved today by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate.

The legislation sets up a Federal civil defence administration to direct a preparedness program expected to cost $3,100,000,000 during a three-year period.

The program includes spending $2,250,000,000 on bomb shelters. Fifty per cent of the funds would be contributed by the Federal Government, the rest by local and state governments.

Korean Stories Must Submit To Censorship

TOKIO, Dec. 21 (Thursday) (AP).—Gen. MacArthur's headquarters Wednesday ordered all Korean military dispatches submitted for official clearance before they are sent abroad.

A brief headquarters announcement made no mention of penalties for refusal to comply. It also did not call the move military censorship.

Officers on duty today intimated the next step would be discipline for correspondents if they file censored material.

ALL ACCREDITED

(All correspondents in Tokio and Korea are accredited to MacArthur's headquarters. They always have been subject to loss of accreditation and expulsion for violations of security.)

Col. E. C. Burkhart, whose press advisory division will scan copy written in Tokio, said as far as he knows his division still is operating under the old voluntary censorship.

He said under this voluntary system he is without authority to enforce recommendations. All violations of security simply will be submitted to Col. M. P. Echols, MacArthur's public information officer.

Echols, who announced the new set-up, said a similar organization of censorship will be established in Korea. But Wednesday night United States Eighth Army correspondents still had not been informed officially.

NO PILE-UP

There was no pile-up of copy at the censor's office Wednesday night, but it was not a busy night.

(There were indications of delays, however. The flow of copy to San Francisco fell off sharply. The first part of one censored field dispatch failed to arrive. Another was badly delayed.)

Aside from the fact that correspondents still are allowed to hand their own copy to the communications centre, this is censorship in every sense of the word.

The same staff officers who Wednesday were "advising" what material should be deleted from copy today were replying with a firm "no."

LACK MANPOWER

For the last few days, Burkhart's division has been giving advice when requested on stories that might violate military security. It was set up at the request of correspondents, who complained they had no responsible source to check on such stories.

Army authorities here have always contended that they lack the manpower to enforce formal censorship. And they argued that it wouldn't work anyway without similar restrictions in Washington and other capitals of the world.

Tangible, Conclusive Facts Hard to Come By in Korea

By H. T. MATSON

SEOUL (By Airmail).—It seems impossible to write with even elementary objectivity.

Actually, since leaving Vancouver November 27 and arriving in Seoul December 7 it has been a kaleidoscopic chasing and ferreting around for leads, information, planes and trains with the eventual tantamount decision that now the sanest policy is to expell all hopes and thoughts of aiming at anything tangible or conclusive, and to gather up the crumbs, wher'er they haply fall.

Both here and in Tokio numerous top-level types have been approached for "expectable enlightenment on legitimate subjects but in every instance replies have been shaky and evasive to the point of finally forcing the question, "Well, does anybody in this theatre know anything at all?"

MYSTERY

The above may sound rhetorical and exaggerated, but nevertheless it begins to be almost a mystery to that nearly daily something major is planned and next day canceled, with nobody apparently able to explain it.

Climbing the scale of local opinion from the level of indifferent G.I.'s up to reasonably incisive majors, the findings are: "It's them politicians back in Washington." And from the majors: "Tanks are no longer any use to us. We can't fight merely from the roads. With good infantry and plenty of ammo, we could spread out into the hills and fight 'em on their own ground. But our infantry's just about out—and so's our ammo—so what?"

ESCAPISM

Both summaries are escapism to a degree, yet both have merit. Undoubtedly the politicians are pulling last ones right and left, which is merely normal. But about fighting from the roads, it seems hard to accept our present vast retreat from an enemy whose heaviest weapon is a mortar.

Factually, from Seoul-level briefings it appears that the enemy has not used (or possibly has been unable to use) any heavy artillery captured from United Nations forces, and furthermore that they only use mortars, bazookas and small arms. Just recently, elements have been encountered mounted on horseback, and apparently charging into battle like knights of old.

Being neither prognosticator nor a qualified dispenser of hard immediacies, this slightly stymied correspondent now leaves you to your private adding and subtraction. Unable to offer you much and realizing that anything here written will be miserably out of date by time it reaches Canada, he sometimes wonders: "Well, why bother to write anything?"

Which is probably about the most appealing thought he's had since leaving Canada.

City Hall Employees Receive Christmas Letter From Mayor

A new practice has been inaugurated this year by Mayor Percy George in distributing among members of the City Hall staff a personal letter wishing all "a merry Christmas."

"I would like to take this occasion to sincerely congratulate one and all of my fellow municipal workers on the splendid improvement in co-operation between not only individuals, but departments as a whole, and the esprit-de-corps which has been much in evidence during the past year," the mayor declared in his letter.

"I would also like to congratulate you on the very courteous manner in which you have met the public on all occasions during 1950," continued the mayor.

"I feel that you realize, as I do, that we are not 'civil servants' in the strict sense of the word, but public relations workers in helping the citizens of your community and mine realize that their city is being well and efficiently managed," he stated.

MAYOR PERCY GEORGE

"And so, in view of this, it is with sincere appreciation of your efforts that I take this way of extending to each and every one of the civic staff a very Merry Christmas to you and yours and the very best of health and happiness for the coming year," concluded the mayor's message.

COLLECTIONS UP

The Victoria Christmas Seal Committee has taken in $1,000 more than last year and feels certain that its 1950 quota of $12,000 will be substantially topped.

Total collected yesterday was $11,223.

Committee spokesmen say that returns from the letters of appeal and seals mailed out last month will be coming in for some time after the New Year.

The drive is being sponsored by the Soroptimist Club.

BY-ELECTION PLANS

The 1951 City Council, probably at its first meeting, will set up machinery for a by-election to fill the vacancy created through the withdrawal of Alderman-elect Roy Whittle.

Possibility was seen at City Hall that the date for the by-election might be January 25.

HEADS CLUB

Rev Douglas B Carr, minister at First United Church, was elected president of the newly-formed Kiwanis Club of Victoria North at the inaugural meeting of the organization at the Monterey.

R L McQuarrie was elected vice-president; W P Wright, secretary-treasurer; and W A Atherton, Dr A N Beattie, P B Coombs, Daryl G. Elford, D C. McKinnon, L R R. Steick and W P Vietch, directors.

Gilman Q. Rolstad of Tacoma, governor of the Pacific Northwest district, completed the organization of the club and assisted by Lieut-Gov C H G Mann, proceeded with the inauguration ceremonies. C C Annett, president of the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, was chairman.

Charter night for the club has been set for January 18 when the installation of the new club's officers and 1951 officers of the Oak Bay Club will take place.

Murder Conviction Set For Appeal Court Sitting

Joseph Arthur Oullette will resume his fight for life in connection with the November, 1949, killing of two Vernon Chinese when the British Columbia Court of Appeal opens here January 8.

The 23-year-old Manitoba man was convicted of the murder of Mah Sing, his market-gardener employer, by a Vernon Assize jury last May and sentenced to hang.

Oullette, represented by Vancouver barrister Eric Brown, appealed the conviction here last September.

The Court of Appeal quashed the conviction and ordered a new trial on the charge of murdering Mah Sing.

Oullette was subsequently tried at Vernon in November on the charge of murdering Lee On. He was found guilty and sentenced to hang by Mr Justice J M. Coady.

It is from this conviction that he will be appealing here next month.

EIGHT CASES

Four criminal and four civil cases are now listed for the January Appeal Court sittings.

Among appeals scheduled to be heard is that of architect Hubert Savage, which was stood over from the last Appeal Court sitting here in October.

Represented by R. D Harvey, K.C., Savage is contesting a Supreme Court judgment handed down last May by Mr Justice Wood, awarding him $7,560 for work done in drafting plans for three Alberni schools costing more than $1 000 000.

Engaged by the Alberni District School Board in 1945, Savage was released in 1948 and the Vancouver firm of McCarter and Nairne retained to complete the project.

Maintaining that the Vancouver architects had been wrongfully hired, Savage launched suit, claiming a total of $27,560 from the board, including damages for alleged breach of contract.

Other civil appeals scheduled to be heard are: Chemicals Inc (A) vs. Shanahan's; Canadian Forest Products (A) vs. Cudahy; Smith (P) vs. B.C.E.R. and Garfield William Cooper.

Criminal appeals listed include Gordon Kravenia, Vancouver, against conviction and sentence to five years' imprisonment for possession of drugs; Gerald B Raughey, Vancouver, convicted of theft and sentenced to two years' imprisonment; Louis Tremblay, Nanaimo, convicted of perjury and sentenced to four months in jail.

Chaste Salute

Mistletoe Legends Fade But Popular Part Stays

While the "chaste salute of man and maid" beneath the mistletoe still is associated with the Yuletide festivities, few of the old customs and superstitions that surrounded its origin adhere to it today.

The origin of the use of the mistletoe bough goes back to the days of the earliest Scandinavian races. The story goes that when these people wanted to worship their mighty god, Thor, it was with mistletoe that they honored him.

After searching their great and gloomy forests in the depths of mid-Winter for the berried boughs they would festoon their vast communal halls with the mistletoe. Way back then, a kiss was regarded as plighting a troth that nothing on earth could sever.

DRUID VIEW

The ancient Druids in Great Britain, and the Romans, found particular significance in the mistletoe. Then the boughs were carried back with singing to the temples and villages adorned with sprigs from the sacred greenery.

In remote parts of Europe, according to history, there are still people who associate particular healing powers and good and bad omens with their conduct under the mistletoe.

It has been a firm belief for many generations in certain rural districts in the north of England that if a girl is not kissed under the mistletoe at Christmas her chances of being married during the ensuing year are completely nil.

All these are odd customs but it is to be hoped that they will not be entirely forgotten — particularly the suggestion of the simple and not especially significant mistletoe kiss.

INDIAN DEFENCES

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 20 (AP) — A Cabinet official announced today India is building airfields and telegraphic networks to strengthen the defences of her ill-defined and oft-disputed border on Communist China in Northern Assam. A recent Chinese Communist map showed the area as belonging to China along with the neighboring northern triangle of Burma.

Next Year's Christmas Present

Institute for Blind Plans to Start Building Construction in Spring

Between $50,000 and $55,000 has been raised and Victoria blind persons will have their own building before next Christmas.

This was announced yesterday by Eric Brettell, honorary director of the Victoria branch, Canadian National Institute for the Blind at the institute's annual Christmas luncheon.

More than 180 blind and their friends gathered at the T Eaton dining-room and at Terry's for the luncheon, and then were guests at a tea and Christmas party at Prince Robert House.

BREAKS NEWS

News of the best Christmas present they could hope for was given to them by Mr Brettell when he said:

"Last week's civic election assured that land on the corner of Blanshard and Cormorant will be tax-exempt.

"This property is ready; between $50,000 and $55,000 will be received early in January, and we hope to get construction under way in March or April.

"If everything goes well, we hope to have the official opening in September or October."

Mr. Brettell said that the building will be non-resident.

NOT ENOUGH

A canvass of Victoria White Cane Club members disclosed that only four would be willing to make a permanent move. Most of the balance are living with relatives and friends.

To operate a residential centre, a minimum of 12 would be required as permanent guests, he said.

The new building will contain a workshop where basket weaving and other blind vocations can be worked at, a lounge, auditorium, cafeteria and administration offices.

"It will be a wonderful thing. The blind can come, meet their friends and keep themselves busy. The building will boost the morale of the blind in Greater Victoria immeasurably," said Mr Brettell.

Money for the construction of the new blind centre comes from Provincial, Federal and C.N.I.B grants, and from donations from the British Columbia public.

CONGRESSMAN INDICTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP) — A Federal grand jury today indicted Representative Walter E. Brehm (Rep., O.), on seven charges of illegally getting money from two of his office employees for use in his successful re-election campaign.

LEADING HERDS

Two states, Victoria and New South Wales, between them have 60 per cent of Australia's vast sheep herds.

Home Lights On Display For Judging

Three more days—or nights—of judging remain in the 1950 edition of Victoria's annual Christmas home-lighting contest.

Preliminary judging, which started Tuesday and was also held yesterday evening, will take place tonight and tomorrow with the final judging to be held Saturday.

Thirty-one homes have entered the contest and the four judges will have a difficult task in choosing a winner.

Judges are F W Hawes, president of the Chamber of Commerce, N. Howard, landscape architect, Kenneth Reid, city electrical engineer and street lighting superintendent, and John H. Wade, architect.

Many of the decorative homes are high in originality and others have an imposing array of colored lights. One home features a waving Santa Claus. Another is complete with music and large lighted Christmas cards.

Resources Meeting Scheduled

Fourth British Columbia Natural Resources Conference will be held at the Empress Hotel February 22 and 23, it was announced yesterday.

"Chaos or co-ordination" has been adopted as the theme of the conference, at which technical discussions are held relating to the use and conservation of the province's natural wealth.

Forum meetings will be held on mining in parks and forests; British Columbia rangelands; use and misuse of lands, and fish and power.

Among the chief addresses to be delivered: "Industry and Resources" by Trade and Industry Minister Leslie Eyres; "Use of Youth," Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney; "Forestry in Scandinavia," J E Liersch. Dr I. N Gabrielson will be the principal guest speaker.

Disparity in Pay Cited By City Hall Employees

Increase in the cost of living, the fact that food prices here are higher than on the Mainland and the disparity between wages for the same services here and in Vancouver were used as ammunition by representatives of the City Hall Employees' Association, Local 4, when they resumed talks with City Manager Cecil C. Wyatt yesterday on demands for $30 across-the-board wage increases.

Percy Rayment, bargaining agent for the union, declared that since 1947 cost of living has increased $47.50 per month, while increases granted union members have amounted only to $27.50 per month.

ASKS WHY

Mr Wyatt asked why the union compared wages paid in Victoria with those paid in Vancouver.

Mr Rayment replied the service supplied by Victoria employees was comparable to that supplied by Vancouver employees while wages paid the latter were higher.

He said that Victoria paid some trades less than other Island cities.

"Victoria seems to be behind everybody," he observed.

Mr Wyatt said he would like to make a study of salary figures before making any proposals in order to ascertain what increases would cost the city.

The union requested that a clause be inserted in its agreement so that it would be notified of staff changes involving such factors as pay and promotion before they are passed by City Council.

It was agreed that talks should resume early in January.

Some Day Sure the Crash Will Come

STAND at the uncontrolled intersection of Douglas (north and south), Humboldt (east and west) and McClure Street (merging with Burdett Avenue west of the new power block) at the five o'clock rush and see what happens. Scores of vehicles of the Provincial Civil Service are then pressing three deep in the first rush uptown. It is there that the Gonzales buses (Nos. 1 and 2) have to make a right-angled turn to and from Douglas Street at cross angles to the streams of moving traffic. A Government liquor vendor's store on Humboldt west and the Empress Hotel add other traffic streams from another direction. In addition, of course, Douglas Street itself is a main artery, and Humboldt the chief approach to one of the two major hospitals in the community.

With no traffic lights, and no police on point duty at the intersection, the Legislative Buildings' vehicular parade is an easy first in the scrimmage which takes place at 5 p.m. For minutes at a time a solid phalanx of cars proceed three abreast north on Douglas, bumper to headlight. Gonzales buses wait for an opening in this onslaught, and then weave their way through in a full right-angled turn. Halted drivers on Humboldt east and Humboldt west stare hopefully at the mess, and then in turn try their luck. A slimmer, but persistent stream of traffic comes down the hill out of Burdett Avenue to join the McClure Street outlet, and the circus.

With such a start, and upwards of 100 cars at one time jockeying to get through the unregulated intersection, anything can happen. It is sheer luck that day after day this chaotic condition has gone without major accident. Reduced to the simplest terms, five thoroughfares come together at this intersection. Three of them are busy ones. There is no referee, either automatic or human. Some day a loaded passenger bus will be rolled over there with serious consequences, if steps are not taken to sort out the tangle. The City can do that with lights or by other means. To leave this intersection unguarded any longer is beyond common sense, it is courting tragedy.

British Columbia Is Not Alaska, But . . .

WHAT immediate necessity compels a nightly blackout of military bases in Alaska is not divulged, but presumably it would not be invoked were it not deemed advisable. Alaskans have made no secret of the fact they feel uncomfortably close to the Soviet Union and consider themselves none too well protected against emergency. The blackout serves to illustrate the disparity between the Canadian and American viewpoints about West Coast defence.

We have the word of Mr. Claxton that Ottawa does not think any enemy attack is at all likely in this area. Across the line defence thinking is much different. Military measures, including nightly patrol of the skies by fighter aircraft, have been in vogue for some time in American Pacific Coast states. This province lies between the two alerted United States areas, Alaska and the coastal states south of the 49th Parallel, and it could scarcely depend on the good will of any attacker merely so that Mr. Claxton's view would be confirmed.

It is this same complacency that has vitiated the civil defence picture in British Columbia. The report issued this week by the Provincial Government dwells at length on the amount of paper work that appears to have been done, much of it essential, but nowhere is there any hint of organization of the people who must form the core of civilian protection. Enough literary material to blanket the whole province has been assembled, yet one doubts that a single shovel or bucket of sand is ready to anyone's hand.

All that, one supposes, will come in time, just so long as an emergency does not arrive first. Quite possibly British Columbia does not need to emulate Alaska, but a little faster A.R.P. tempo would nevertheless be welcome. The appointment of Major-General Stein as civil defence co-ordinator is opportune, and may herald a new appraisal of the situation.

Security Measures Come Late in Korea

GENERAL MacArthur's headquarters has announced that in future there will be screening of news dispatches from Korea. It is about time. Up to now "security" has had the loosest interpretation, and correspondents, placed on an unfair "honor" footing, have had complete freedom to transmit as much as they liked about the strength, disposition, movements and projected movements of units in the field and in staging areas. It is difficult to understand a commander of General MacArthur's experience in battle having allowed this to go on so long unchecked.

In the past it has always been a first principle of military operations never to let the enemy have any of the information such as has been pouring out of Korea these past several months. Trained security officers are included in every headquarters for the vital purpose of plugging leaks and keeping the enemy guessing as to where forces are concentrated, where weak spots may be, what reinforcements are available, where and when attacks are to be mounted, and—equally important—the state of morale.

From the start of this peculiar campaign until these present critical days in Korea nothing has been done to keep any of this information from the enemy. On the contrary it has been handed to him in minute detail through the medium of news dispatches. For this the correspondents can scarcely be blamed. Their job is to inform their papers and news services of what is happening, as fully as the military will allow; and up to now headquarters has allowed everything.

To what extent these unguarded disclosures have harmed and jeopardized United Nations operations and the lives of the men who are fighting is a matter of conjecture; but it is certain that the enemy has made effective use of the intelligence that has come to him so easily. Other nations must have viewed with concern the extraordinary laxity that has prevailed. Circumstances justified the imposition of full military censorship much earlier than General MacArthur has seen fit now to do.

Letters and Excerpts

Letters to the editor on any topic of genuine interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. No letter will be inserted in whole or in part, except over the proper signature and address of the writer. Unsolicited correspondence cannot be returned.

VANCOUVER POLL

Sir,—The Victoria Citizens' Association, whose objective is the betterment of the City of Victoria, watched with intense interest the recent attempt made in Vancouver to create "Open Sunday." The officers and members of the Victoria Citizens' Association wish to express their sincere "well done" to those citizens of Vancouver who by their efforts and their votes succeeded in keeping Sunday free as a day of rest.

VETERANS GRATEFUL

Sir,—All the boys at the Veterans' Hospital desire to express their thanks to all of their friends, who so generously give up their time to try to bring a smile to all the inmates here, and wish them all A Very Merry Christmas and A Happy and Prosperous New Year. The same to all the staff, who could not be duplicated the world over, and a very special bouquet to the boys' friends for years, Mrs. Beban and Mr. and Mrs. Abraham for their years of faithful devotion.

Veterans' Hospital, Victoria, B.C.

RATEPAYERS THANKED

Sir,—We are greatly indebted to your paper, the City Council in Victoria, and our many friends who supported the plebiscite granting free taxes for the proposed new service centre of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. No better Christmas present could be given to the members of the Victoria White Cane Club and the other sightless people of Greater Victoria.

Plans for the necessary funds to erect the building are now being completed. We are confident that 1951 will see our dream come true.

I would be most grateful if you could find some adequate way through the medium of your paper to express our thanks to all concerned.

The Long-Ago

On that deep-retiring shore
Frequent pearls of beauty lie
Where the passion waves of yore
Fiercely beat and mounted high
Sorrows that are sorrows still Lose the bitter taste of woe;
Nothing's altogether ill
In the griefs of Long-ago.

Tombs where lonely love repines,
Ghastly tenements of tears.
Wear the look for happy shrines
Through the golden mist of years
Death, to those who trust in good,
Vindicates his hardest blow:
'Oh' we would not, if we could,
Wake the sleep of Long-ago.

Though the doom of swift decay
Shocks the soul where life is strong
Though for frailer hearts the day
Lingers sad and overlong—
Still the weight will find a leaven,
Still the spoiler's hand is slow,
While the future has its heaven,
And the past its Long-ago.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE world of letters has been titillated by what one New York paper calls "a literary event unsurpassed in several decades," to wit, the recent publication of Boswell's "London Journal."

It was written nearly 200 years ago by the young scapegrace who came down from the north to sample the delights of London and pay court to men of genius with a servility that obscured his own great talents.

The journal, I gather, is of the kind which if made into a movie would be labeled adult entertainment, which of course adds to its charm in an age in which Boswell himself might not have felt out of place.

This would account for its suppression by his literary executors, although not necessarily for the misadventures that later befell the Boswell papers. Assiduous search since the 1920's has unearthed them from various parts of Scotland and Ireland, and an expansive purse has enabled their acquisition by Yale University.

* * *

Bozzy, as the Britannica calls him, depicted himself accurately when he rhymed thus:

Boswell is pleasant and gay,
For frolic by Nature design'd:
He heedlessly rattles away.
When the company is to his mind
"This maxim" he says, "you may see,
We can never have corn without chaff",
So not a bent sixpence cares he,
Whether with him or at him you laugh.

While Boswell sat at the feet of his master, jotting down the notes he was to fashion into the greatest biography in the English language, the Johnsonian circle to whom he seemed but an ill-favored and sycophantic buffoon did indeed laugh at and not with him.

The last laugh, however, has been Boswell's, even if it has been posthumous. None of the work of the coterie that surrounded the good doctor, not excluding the writings of Johnson himself, can match the artistry of the then lowly Boswell.

* * *

Now comes his private diary to increase the stature of the man whom neither insult nor rebuke could separate from his idolatry. It is cited as the peer at least of Pepys' "Diary" and the "Confessions" of Rousseau, and one critic says Boswell's place in English literature will have to be reappraised, upwards.

It is a paradox, not ill-fitting since Boswell was a paradox, that the author of so great a biography should for so long have been deemed a nonentity, while the man he extolled with superlative skill grew in fame and size. Dr. Johnson lies in Westminster Abbey of his own right, but it is Boswell's Johnson the world acclaims. Were it not for his lowly companion the literary cham of the eighteenth century might well be a back number.

It is also at least a thought worth toying with, that the bon mots, the didactic maxims, and the profundities of Dr. Johnson came in the main from Boswell's brain and not from Johnson's lips. Even so indefatigable a note-taker as Bozzy could scarcely have coped with the loquacity of the man he worshipped, so that in recreating the passages he heard he must have been forced to coin in large measure the sayings that have made Johnson immortal.

His "London Journal" will give no hint of this, but it is a fair deduction.

Attlee's Shaky Mandate

By RAYMOND MOLEY

WHILE it may be argued that since the November election President Truman has at the very best a shaky hold on the American electorate, there can be no doubt about the position on his own home front of Prime Minister Attlee. Mr. Attlee holds office by the narrowest of margins and there is evidence that if an election were held now he and his colleagues would be pitched out. In the February election the Labor Party ran short of a popular majority by nearly two million. Its Parliamentary margin has hovered around seven votes. And since February there have been unmistakable signs that the tide of opinion has been running steadily toward the Conservatives.

The most recent test was in a constituency in Birmingham. It was a Conservative district, but in this by-election, the Conservative won by a larger margin than that by which it was carried in February.

* * *

Altogether there have been seven by-elections since the general election ten months ago. In the seven constituencies thus tested, four had been held by Labor members and three by Conservatives. In these elections there has been no change in representation. But in every case but one the results were bad news for Labor. Labor seats were won by reduced majorities and Conservative seats by larger ones. In all seven constituencies Labor in February had a total majority over the Conservatives of 18,253. In these by-elections that number has been reduced to 2,232.

A very notable fact is that in the election in Birmingham and in another in Oxford, where in February Liberal candidates received a large vote, the results in the elections since have shown that most former Liberal votes have gone to the Conservative candidates. This is evidence that if the Liberal Party had abandoned its dog-in-the-manger attitude in February, the Conservatives would have won a clear and fairly workable majority and Churchill and not Attlee would have been conferring with Truman.

Attlee's position is made still more impotent because of the deep difference of opinion in his own party. At least a hundred members of his Parliamentary group, which is about one-third, are uncompromising Socialists. Constant appeasement of this group is in order. Key Ministers like Emmanuel Shinwell in Defence, John Strachey in the War Office and Aneurin Bevan in Health are not only troublesome for Attlee but undoubtedly distrusted by by the country.

The Liberal group of nine is torn with disagreements. Their ranks break wide open on important votes. All of them hold their seats by narrow margins. And in another election they might well be wiped out by an electorate more interested in survival than in theories.

Despite the threat of war, it might be well to hold another election and determine once for all what statesmen really represent the British nation. An overturn certainly would remove such misfits as Shinwell and Strachey from key defence and military posts. Until this happens, there can be little assurance of firm action.

Official Egg-Nibbler

(John Hillaby in Public Opinion, London)

I WAS talking this week to a modest young man from Cambridge who assured me that over the last six months he has nibbled away at about 1,200 eggs from common or domestic fowls as well as a few from pipits, blackbirds, thrushes, robins, golden orioles, nightjars, bush turkeys, quails and water hens, not to mention some fishy omelettes made out of the infertile ova of guillemots, shags, cormorants and Manx shearwaters. At home, I understand, he is partial to a nice pork chop with Brussels sprouts and baked potatoes. His job during the day is egg tasting for the Ministry of Food at its Cambridge laboratories. He never actually eats the things. "Just a nibble," he confessed.

The tasters have something like 50 categories of "egginess," ranging from new-laid perfection to rank unpalatability. Because Australia and New Zealand, with their reversed seasons, have an egg-glut when we have an egg-shortage, it seems that there is a possibility that we might start an egg-exchange scheme if (and only if) the Cambridge people can preserve their eggs in all their freshness in a film of medicinal paraffin for five or six months. It is this man's job to find out if an oiled egg tastes like a real egg, if you can remember what they were like.

And why was he sampling all those wild bird eggs? Oh, that was a crazy scheme put up by an ornithologist who wanted to prove that brightly colored birds laid foul eggs. Why? He didn't know.

BUSINESS FIRST

After a perfunctory rendering of "Good King Wenceslas" there came a knock on the door. On the doorstep the householder found a small, silent boy. To break the ice he said "Good evening." This produced no reaction, so after a bit the householder said: "You haven't wished me a merry Christmas." This broke down the boy's reserve at last, and he replied: "I do that after I've been paid."

Professor: "Not at all! I had to get up to answer the telephone anyway."

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

BUSINESS experts, economists and other members of the clergy of progress, are always probing for the secret of success in human enterprises. But there is one very simple element they all fail to stress adequately. And that is the quality of enthusiasm.

Almost any business, from the rag business to heavy industry thrives with enthusiasm. But if enthusiasm dies, business dies. It may linger. But it is dying.

There is not a street in any town or city that does not demonstrate this simple fact in any number of its stores, shops, houses. You see some of the most preposterous little enterprises flourishing like the green bay tree, all because of an almost physic force of enthusiasm from their proprietors and operators. And you see, also, any number of businesses that have every reason to thrive, but which are standing still or slowly folding up because of a want of enthusiasm in the people inside.

Enthusiasm can manifest itself in a great many shapes. There is enthusiasm for money, which is one of its simplest assertions. But there are all manner of deep enthusiasms, such as the enthusiasm a man may have for being a success in his wife's eyes, even if only as a presser and cleaner, or a shoe repair man. There is the enthusiasm a man and woman running a bake shop may have for the future of their children, whom they intend to send to the university to be doctors, engineers. That could be called enthusiasm for money; but obviously it is deeper and more impelling than that.

The bigger the business, the harder it is for the enthusiasts at the head of it to impart their enthusiasm down through the ranks of their employees. Some succeed. Some fail. For the problem is now involved with the enthusiasm of the trades unions for better wages and working conditions, not to mention an almost universal enthusiasm for more and more of the good things of life.

But reduced to its simplest equation, where there is enough enthusiasm in any enterprise, there is at least the basic raw material of success.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—Premier Oliver's Government has never been in such a predicament as it was on Thursday evening, when it was saved from defeat by the vote of the Speaker. The scenes that ensued have no parallel in recent years in the Provincial Legislature.

50 YEARS AGO—News from the North tells that an epidemic of typhoid and pneumonia is prevalent at Dawson, and new cases are being reported daily. Both hospitals are filled to capacity with patients, and there have been twelve deaths during the past week.

85 YEARS AGO—A good deal of snow fell on Thursday night on the already frozen ground, affording excellent conditions for sleighing. Some very fine turnouts were in evidence in the city today, and the air was a-jingle with bells.

Although nine-year-old Stelcos Andoniadis is blind, it has not hindered him from educating his mind. Here the Greek boy is seen learning his geography by touch with the aid of a special relief globe in the School for the Blind at Salonika, Greece. Experts Believe Russia Lacks Oil for Full War

—INTERPRETING THE NEWS—

By SIGRID ARNE
A.P. News Analyst

Some experts on Russia in Washington think the Kremlin is several million barrels of oil away from touching off another world war.

The Russian position on oil appears to them not too different from Hitler's when he gambled on the World War, hoping that he either had, or would win, enough supplies to carry him through.

Tanks get two miles to the gallon of gas.

On a trip to Europe a B-36 uses more than a tank car of gasoline and 10,000 pounds of lubricating oil.

For that kind of warfare the West is set up to carry on indefinitely. Russia, these men believe, is only supplied for a lightning war. But that lightning war could be prolonged if the Russians could grab the Middle East oil fields and supply enough air protection to keep them in production.

IRAN ON ALERT

Apprehension concerning the possibility of such a coup was evidenced in Tehran today when Iran's Premier Ali Razmara ordered oil garrisons in a "state of alert" because of the critical world situation. Iran is one of the Middle East's largest oil producers.

Here is how the East-West production of oil now stacks up:

The United States is turning out 2,311,000,000 barrels of oil a year. The Western Hemisphere turns out 3,075,000,000.

The West uses production from the Middle East, 600,000,000 barrels a year. The richest fields lie in Iran: these turn out 251,000,000 barrels a year.

The Russians are turning out only 324,000,000 barrels of oil a year. Moscow gives out no such trade information, but this is the best guess of men who work for American oil companies and the United States Government.

DRILLING HEAVY

The only known important Russian supply lies in the Baku oil fields, north of the Caspian Sea. Drilling here has been heavy since 1945.

All those fields are within range of Western Allied planes flying from the Mediterranean.

There is a second Russian oil supply in Romania, in the Ploesti oil fields, but that oil is so low grade that it takes a good deal of fancy refining.

The Russians might prolong a war by grabbing the Middle East fields, but these are even more vulnerable to Western bombing than their Baku fields.

There are signs that the Soviets take oil seriously. Russia used to export oil. It now has cut off all exports.

Austerity Again Seen For Britain

LONDON, Dec. 20 (CP).—Britain may soon slap on wartime labor and price controls and boost her armaments drive, already due to cost £3,600,000,000 ($10,080,000,000) over the next three years, informed sources said tonight.

These sources predicted the question of a bigger arms program will be considered by the Cabinet next week and that if defence spending is increased, the new load on the national economy would make necessary:

1 Direction of labor, such as Britain had in the World War;

2 Widespread control of prices and supplies, foreshadowing a return to harsh austerity with luxuries and even household essentials becoming scarce again; and

3 Requisition of factories and buildings where necessary.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is expected to bring new proposals for accelerating defence production when he returns tomorrow from the 12-country Pact meeting in Brussels.

The Government is fully aware of the hardships which will be imposed on the country, but is determined to give Gen. Dwight Eisenhower every possible assistance in building up Atlantic Pact forces.

There is a strong feeling in Government circles here that Britain should play a more prominent role in world affairs. This would involve putting her point of view more strongly in policy-making conferences and backing up decisions of such conferences with the means in her power.

The figure of £3,600,000,000 for rearmament never was intended to be a fixed limit, the sources said. It was solely a guide, so that planners could get new plants constructed without delay.

The main part of the money would not therefore be spent in the near future but when production got under way.

Fairy-Tale Christmas Planned For Dutch Cadets in Miami

MIAMI, Dec. 20 (INS).—Because an entire city opened its heart to the request of one of its big-hearted sons, plans are complete tonight to give 45 flying Dutchmen a fairy-tale Christmas in glittering Miami.

The lucky fliers are aviation cadets from The Netherlands now taking flight training at Randolph Field, Tex. Their holiday host is Cadet John Shaddick of Miami, who hated to see them spend a Christmas so far from home without something worth remembering.

So he engineered a five-day holiday which the friendly Dutchmen will never forget.

John wrote his mother, Mrs. R. H. Shaddick, that he wanted to bring "a few of the fellows" home for Christmas. Mrs. Shaddick later learned to her surprise that "a few" meant 45.

PAPER HELPS

She told her story to a Miami newspaper and within hours she was flooded with phone calls from people asking if they could provide free rooms for the holiday guests. Mrs. Shaddick happily remarked:

"I broke down and cried after that. I didn't know there were so many good people in Miami. They have all opened their hearts."

After reading about Miami's warm beaches, the Dutch cadets told John they would like to go swimming. Two swank Miami Beach hotels promptly offered their private pools and planned swimming parties for the boys.

Then someone thought about dates.

Pretty Mary Beth Edwards, John's girl friend, got on the phone and soon had 45 of Miami's most attractive girls lined up.

ENTERTAINED

On Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, the boys, who range in age from 19 to 23, will be entertained by the Miami families which have offered to give them lodging, Mrs. Shaddick explained.

"We want them to see a real Christmas. All the rest will be like fairy-tale trimmings, but on Christmas Day the thing they want most is to have a real Christmas in a real American home."

When they arrive Saturday morning aboard a C-47 transport provided by the air force, Netherlands Consul Henri Clemens, along with city and Chamber of Commerce officials, will be on hand to greet them.

On the day after Christmas, the cadets will go to Tropical Park race track, where the day's feature race has been tentatively named "The Flying Dutchman."

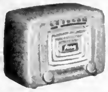

The rest of their time will be taken up by parties and sightseeing.

But the Dutchmen will miss what some Miamians think they would enjoy most of all—the city's famed Orange Bowl festivities January 1.

The cadets have to return to duty on December 28.

Oddities

BERLIN, Dec. 20 (AP).—A West Berlin anti-Communist organization called the "Fighting Group Against Inhumanity" is sending Joseph Stalin a present for his 71st birthday December 21.

It is a wreath made of barbed wire.

"We want to remind him," a group member said, "that there still are many German prisoners behind Russian barbed wire."

ROANOKE, Va., Dec. 20 (AP).—One can't be too sure these days.

The latest puzzler for City Manager Arthur S. Owens is a query from a Philadelphia woman wanting to move to Roanoke. She asked if the city is safe from atomic bombing.

Owens' reply: Roanoke is as safe as anywhere else.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20 (AP).—Betty Jean Bandell, 21, was wearing a new suit when a gunman walked into the drugstore where she was shopping yesterday.

Ordered to lie on the floor, she snapped:

"I won't. I just paid $75 for this suit and I don't want to get it dirty."

She got away with it—and the gunman got away with $500.

TRENTON, N.J., Dec. 20 (AP).—Superior Court ruled today that engagement gifts do not necessarily become the property of the would-be bride when an engagement is broken off.

"This court," the ruling said, "is aware of no social custom which compels the award of engagement gifts to the disappointed bride."

Fine Christmas Fare Planned for Outposts

FORT NELSON, B.C., Dec. 20 (CP).—Christmas won't be the same this year. The annual migration of snow birds and ice worms has been delayed by mild weather.

"In fact," says Sergeant R. Couzic of Montreal, cook in charge of the R.C.A.F. airmen's mess, "the catch of these choice morsels has been so poor that we have no alternative but to use a substitute menu of tomato juice cocktail, roast turkey, mushroom dressing, cranberry sauce, gravy, peas, niblet corn, mashed potatoes, plum pudding, hot rolls, nuts, candies, fruit, tea and coffee."

The snow bird and the ice worm are mythical, legendary beings of the North that had their origin in the poems of Robert Service. It is an annual Christmas-time joke among servicemen stationed in the North that their holiday menu will be enriched by their addition.

JUST LIKE HOME

Anyway, Sergeant Couzic figures the airmen stationed at this outpost, 500 miles northwest of Edmonton, should be able to tolerate their Christmas away from home. But for others, it will be just like home. Servicemen with families here have planned a school Christmas party and a kindergarten party.

Farther North, at Teslin, Y.T., the school children's party will be the big thing. A Stout hut has been decorated with stage, tree and lights, and a special collection has been made to give every child a present. Teslin is 80 miles southeast of Whitehorse, Y.T.

At Whitehorse itself, the servicemen will take a back seat. An estimated 400 children of army and air force personnel and civilian workmen are expected at the Christmas tree party Friday.

NO REINDEER

Up near the North Pole you would expect Santa Claus to arrive with reindeer for sure. But for most parties he'll stable his reindeer in favor of an aircraft—in some cases a helicopter.

Parties and dances will brighten the Yule under the Northern Lights, but juke boxes will provide the music. The Yukon's rare musicians are reported asking high prices with a premium for New Year's Eve of $15 a man an hour.

One thing is sure at most Western stations where larders are stocked with turkeys, plum pudding and ice cream—it will be a white Christmas.

Down at Vancouver's Sea Island, airmen expect to be able to take their choice. It may be green enough for golf but a 20-minute drive will take them to high ground and skiing.

"Pay-as-We-Go" Spending Urged

LONDON, Dec. 20 (CP).—Britain's financial chief called tonight for a "pay-as-we-go" policy on defence spending.

Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said in a speech "we have got to rearm and rearm swiftly, but we must not throw away our recovery nor sacrifice economic independence which we have just regained."

He called for greater efforts to increase exports and improve the country's financial position.

Men's Turn Comes Saturday

Office Workers, Housewives Pack Stores in Last-Minute Buying Spree

The mad last-minute round of Christmas-present buying is well under way in Victoria, and the tempo is expected to increase to a frantic pitch by Saturday night.

Many large firms and Government offices have given their employees time off from work to take care of their shopping problems.

They and most housewives will form the bulk of shoppers for the remainder of the week. Saturday will no doubt be the men's turn at shop counters when most offices will be—officially or unofficially—closed in the afternoon.

Late shoppers are going to be disappointed if they plan on purchasing Christmas tree decorations at the last minute. Already many stores report a shortage in some types.

Flat fifties in at least one brand of cigarettes are nearly sold out, one dealer reported.

And already it is too late to mail local Christmas cards and be sure of having them delivered before December 25. As a result tardy persons are now preparing their New Year's greeting card lists.

WEATHER UNCERTAIN

Most people are dashing around in this "banana belt of Canada," entirely ignoring the whims of the weatherman who takes great delight at this time of the year in stirring up trouble.

It happened last year and there is no guarantee it won't happen again. About 12 months ago a snowstorm hit Victoria. A few days later the weather turned mild and rain turned city streets into a sea of slush.

Stores selling overshoes, raincoats and other wet weather merchandise did a roaring business on top of the Christmas trade.

Service stations selling car chains and anti-freeze were almost sold out overnight.

But they at least are ready for a bout of freezing weather. Stocks of chains and anti-freeze have hardly been touched this year and there is an ample supply.

Children entered into the Christmas spirit and have been busy making a little extra pocket money by singing carols.

They wander from door to door in the outlying districts in groups of five or six—and sometimes more—ring a doorbell and then burst into song.

But some residents have had about enough. It seems they have received different groups as many as five times during an evening.

At a nickle or a dime for each vocalist, they are finding their Christmas carols expensive.

School Board Seeks Change Of Stop Light

The School Board has requested the city to consider replacing the existing stop light at Oak Bay and Richmond Avenues with a flashing amber light.

T. L. Christie, secretary of the board, stated in a letter to council that it was the opinion of the board that a flashing light would "offer better protection to the school children who are using the school zone.

"The School Board is somewhat concerned over the school zone on Oak Bay Avenue in relation to the existing stop light," declared Mr. Christie. "The tendency of motorists to speed up when traveling west to make the green light and the acceleration after stopping when traveling east appears to be jeopardizing the effectiveness of the school zone."

Three Cars In Collision

A two-car collision last night at Douglas and Broughton Streets involved a third car when it arrived at the accident scene a few minutes later.

A car driven east on Broughton Street by J. M. Coates, 2622 Avebury Street, was in collision with one driven north on Douglas by F. E. Empey, 1125 Fort Street.

Endeavoring to extricate himself from the tangle, Mr. Empey later backed away from the other car and was in collision with another driven north on Douglas by R. P. Dallin, 856 Oliver Street.

Damage to all three cars was slight.

Collected "For Blind;" Boy Held

A 16-year-old boy was arrested yesterday for allegedly soliciting donations for the Victoria White Cane Club without authorization, Chief John Blackstock said last night.

The juvenile, arrested by Detective P. W. Richards and Juvenile Officer Arthur Rudge, was placed in the juvenile detention home.

It is understood the teen-ager would face false pretences charge in juvenile court.

Complaints about an unauthorized person making collection for the White Cane Club reached police less than a week ago. Since that time, it is thought, numerous unsuspecting, well-intentioned citizens have been victimized.

Only yesterday, R. G. Stark, local representative, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and E. Watling, White Cane Club president, publicly warned Victorians about the racket.

B.C. Unwilling to Change 1897 Act for Candidates

Little sympathy with the idea of changing qualifications for the election of aldermen was expressed by officials of the Department of Municipal Affairs yesterday.

They were commenting on suggestions that an "anomaly" in the Municipal Act was responsible for the disqualification of alderman-elect Roy Whittle from office.

Mr. Whittle is reported to have unwittingly run for office without the property ownership qualifications.

Officials of the department recalled that the provisions now in the act have been substantially the same since 1897 and have never been seriously questioned.

Hawes Assails Ignoring Of Planners' Decisions

It is unfortunate and discouraging to the Town Planning Commission that its recommendations are continually being ignored by the City Council, F. W. Hawes, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday.

As an example he cited the action of the City Council in rezoning the area from the Victoria Nursing Home property on the south side of the Gorge Road to the C.N.R. crossing as a commercial area.

The commission wished to delay rezoning the area until February 1 to give members an opportunity to carry out an investigation.

The commission's recommendation to the City council evidently carried little weight, he said. The council went ahead and rezoned the property anyway.

CAREFUL STUDY

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce supported their Harbor and Industrial Development committee in its recommendation to the commission that careful consideration be given to the question of zoning the area for industrial purposes.

"I feel certain that the area immediately above the C.N.R. bridge that is now being used for log storage should be reserved for future development requiring water frontage," Mr. Hawes said.

He added that the harbor committee of the chamber had made an extensive study of the water frontage area available in Victoria Harbor and were alarmed at the small area available for industrial use.

REAL PROBLEM

"If our city is to continue to grow, as it is bound to, we will soon be faced with a real problem," Mr. Hawes said. "I am convinced that any remaining vacant property on our harbor waterfront should be reserved for light and heavy industry.

"There is no logical reason why industry or any other commercial project should be permitted to tie up waterfront areas when the form of such project does not require access to the waterways of our harbor."

City Council rezoned the area to allow the building of $150,000 auto court.

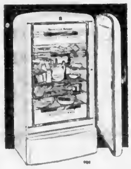

The valley of the Taff River in Wales is entirely occupied by coal and iron industries.

Weirdest Accidents Of 1950 Described By Safety Council

By GORDON ROBBES

If the number of odd accidents occurring this year means anything, the world is getting crazier all the time.

Monkeys that drive cash into people . . . bowls that crash into cars on dry land . . . collar buttons that send collar buttoners to the hospital . . . fish that are run over by cars while swimming . . . falsies dropkr that break their bones.

The National Safety Council in its annual search for odd accidents has come up with all these awards-but-to Paul Jones, director of public information.

BITE CLINCHED IT

Many persons have suspected that many accidents are caused by monkey business, but it remained for Alice, a trained chimpanzee, to clinch it. Riding her motor scooter before an audience crowd at the St. Louis zoo, Alice became so giddy with applause that she zipped off the stage in a show exit run down trainer William Rogers and banged him up, but plenty.

Ever hear of a boat running into a car? It happened at Maysville, Ind., when an uninhibited motor boat leaped out of the White River and crashed into a car parked 20 feet in on dry land. Emmet Hodgson explained he had neglected to close the throttle as his boat neared the shore.

If cars can be struck by boats on land, why can't fish be run over by cars while swimming? They can, and have this year. J. V. Short was driving along the flooded street in front of his home in Toledo, Ohio, when he struck and killed two fish that had migrated from a pond in his yard when high water caused it to overflow.

TIGHT SQUEEZE

A director of the state budget, John H. Bradford of Richmond, Va., has pulled out of some tight scrapes—but none as tight as the collar he tried to button one night in dislike himself up for a party. Director Bradford fought so fiercely that he had to go to hospital for emergency treatment of severe finger bruises inflicted by the collar button he relished in sports shirts.

Curt Wilmer, Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., bows for the best in the heretofore of course. But he also boots that he makes out better as a real angel than he did on this occasion. Playing an angel in an amateur theatrical, Mr. Wilmer came down to earth with a bang when the cable supporting him above the stage snapped as he floated in mid-air.

And in Glendale, Calif., society manager Charles C. McCall has applied for state compensation with the claim that he sustained an injury in his swivel chair that he hurt his back. "You fans who don't rate swivel chairs—wipe off that smile.

STOLE HEADLINES

The boy who emerged head and shoulders above any other headsticker-into in 1950 was Phillip Burrows, aged, two. He had the advantage of living in Hollywood where they do things more spectacularly. So Phillip chose to steal the headlines by getting his head stuck in, of all things, a toilet seat.

At Cannon Ball Beach, South Africa, H. W. Lewis drove his car over a 100-foot cliff above the sea. A thorn tree on the brink caught the car and held it fast. Mr. Lewis climbed out to safety with a scratched thumb.

And at Toulouse, France, a gust of wind shook eighty-year-old Louis Henry out of his seat in a ski lift directly over an 800-foot chasm. His ski became entangled in the wires on the lift and held the two suspended over the chasm until the lift was reversed to a point where he could be released.

MAN-WAVING FLAG

It is not uncommon during a parade to see a man waving a flag. But even in these topsy-turvy days it is somewhat startling to see a flagpole waving a man. Yet that's what happened during a July 4th parade in Springfield, Mass. Henry Lebeau, watching the parade from a third-story window, leaned out too far, lost his balance, plummeted toward the ground, grabbed the top of a flagpole jutting from the window. Old Glory dipped in obedience to Henry's weight, but he managed to hold on until he was pulled through a second-story window.

When officials of the senior veterans' bureau suggested to novelist Carrie Miller of Newark, Ohio, that she drop in and get her driver's license she took them literally. Her car went out of control in front of the bureau office, crashed through the door and injured two bureau employees. Driver test postponed.

HARRY FINISHES JOB

In January the football Presidents (D. Roosevelt) rammed and damaged a pier on the railroad bridge over Illinois River near Peru, Ill. In September, another football sought the same pier and finished the job of demolishing it. The name of the boat? The Harry S. Truman.

And in Yankton, S.D., farmer-reporter George H. Gerlach of Radio Station WNAX enthusiastically supporting National Farm Safety Week, decided to make unscheduled interviews on the dangers of fala in the farmyard. Arriving at a farm in a driving rain, the safety crusader leaped from his car, slipped in the mud, fell and broke his ankle. The interview on fala rang with realism.

Roadhogs undoubtedly have caused many traffic accidents, but seldom as literally as in Coal Valley, Ill., when a horse ridden by Karen Dalan tripped over a pig waddling complacently down the centre of the road. The horse fell on Karen, who suffered from bruises and shock. So did the pig.

OFFICIAL SENTENCED

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Premier Tito's former deputy minister of finance yesterday was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment for embezzling state funds and attempting to fire the country. The deputy, Obrem Blagojevic, was arrested in 1948 while trying to cross into Albania.

VATICAN RAISES PAY

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—The Vatican yesterday ordered a 20-per-cent salary increase in the New Year for all its dependents, totaling more than 3,000 priests and laymen. The raise was understood to have been made possible largely because of the revenues collected during the Holy Year which ends Christmas Eve.

By-Election Postponement Seen

Esquimalt May Be First To Use New Ballot Plan

No preparation has been made by the Government for holding a Provincial by-election in Esquimalt and it may be postponed until after the Spring session of the Legislature, it was learned yesterday.

It was reliably reported that a possible date for the by-election, made necessary by the death of Conservative Charles Beard, former member, has not even been discussed by the Cabinet.

There have been suggestions that Esquimalt constituency may be the first to vote under a new electoral system.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer has announced that he intends to bring forward a bill to provide for an alternative ballot system of voting. If it receives approval from the Legislature and the election is held following the session, political parties in Esquimalt may be permitted to put forth their own candidates.

ENDS FORMULA

It would mean the end of the Coalition formula under which Conservatives and Liberals must combine to nominate a single Coalition candidate.

It is considered possible, however, that the international situation may cause Attorney-General Wismer to shelve his plan. In all discussions in both Liberal and Conservative wings of the Coalition, it has been made clear that the ultimate decisions on breaking up the Coalition formula would depend greatly on international problems.

Leaders of both parties believe the electorate would not take kindly to party-line politics in times of international emergency.

Plans Endanger Resting Place Of Pocahontas

GRAVESEND, England, Dec. 20 (AP)—The last resting place of a North American legend is in peril.

Orders are awaited to demolish St. George's Church, where the body of the Indian Princess Pocahontas was buried 333 years ago. The church is in a poor state of repair, and the Church of England commissioners put St. George's on their "condemned" list in 1942.

Every Sunday the few remaining parishioners walk right over the bones of the beautiful Indian girl who, so the story goes, saved Captain John Smith's life from the tomahawks of her father's braves at the risk of her own life. The bones of Chief Powhatan's daughter lie in a vault beneath the aisle.

The Rev. Richard Daunton-Fear, vicar of St. George's, says there is not the slightest doubt that the bones are still there, despite the passing of more than three centuries.

OPPOSES MOVING

The vicar does not want to see his church torn down. Apart from the church itself, he thinks it would not be fitting for the bones of Pocahontas to wind up under the foundations of a factory or apartment dwelling.

He estimates it would take about $300,000 to reconstruct the church and make it a shrine for Americans, especially those from Virginia. Many indignant Virginians have called on the trans-Atlantic telephone to harass the vicar for not doing something about Pocahontas. Hundreds more have written letters.

Pocahontas married colonist John Rolfe and came to England with him and their son early in the 17th century. Beautiful daughter of a native chief, she made a great splash in court circles and was received by Queen Anne.

In March, 1617, the Rolfes started the long ocean voyage from London back to America. Aboard ship, Pocahontas fell ill. Taken ashore at Gravesend, she died.

Culbertson on Bridge

(Copyright, 1950, By Ely Culbertson)

Logic always supersedes so-called "rules"—and East could have put that fact to excellent advantage in the following case.

South, dealer
North-South vulnerable

NORTH
♠ Q 7 6
♥ J 10 4 3 2
♦ [illegible]
♣ 9 6 4

WEST
♠ J 8 [illegible] 4 2
♥ 7 [illegible]
♦ 10 [illegible] 4 3
♣ [illegible]

EAST
♠ K 5 3
♥ A [illegible]
♦ [illegible]

SOUTH
♠ A 10
♥ K Q [illegible]
♦ A K Q J
♣ A K 7 [illegible]

This deal came up in a match-point duplicate game. At most of the tables North-South reached six hearts, and the expert North declarers fulfilled their contracts by squeezing East between the spade and club suits.

At one table, however, South went out for a top score via this bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 N T	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
4 N T	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
6 N T	Pass	Pass	Pass

There is considerable doubt that in this sequence South's four no-trump call was conventionally Blackwood, but North treated it as such and South could be pretty sure that the combined hands lacked an ace. This made the six-no-trump bid decidedly dangerous (in contrast to six hearts), but South's gamble paid off!

West opened his fourth-highest spade, dummy played low, and East was so injudicious as to go up with the king. After that the defenders were helpless. South could knock out the heart ace at his leisure, gain sure entry to dummy with the spade queen, and easily collect two spade tricks, four hearts, four diamonds and two clubs.

In view of the bidding it was unwise for East to play his spade king on the first trick. Obviously enough if he had ducked the opening lead he would have kept the spade king to shut out dummy's queen as an entry and then, all he would have had to do was hold up the heart ace for two rounds.

It is not always logical to play your highest card, simply because your partner has led the suit!

Take My Word For It

By Frank Colby

WORD CLEARING HOUSE FOR ENGLISH CLASSES

Maywood: One of my students cannot be convinced that the word anxious should not be used in such sentences as "The boys are anxious to play ball." Can you back me up?—M.C.

A. The elderly dictionaries frown on the word anxious in such usages. But all modern dictionaries give complete sanction to anxious in the meaning of "eagerly or earnestly desirous," giving as an example of correct usage "anxious to please."

Literally, of course, anxious means "full of anxiety, greatly troubled." In current usage, then, we have what amounts to two words: (1) anxious, full of anxiety, greatly troubled or solicitous, as to be anxious about one's health or someone's safety; (2) Eagerly or earnestly desirous, as anxious to win the game; to be anxiously awaiting promotion, anxious to begin the journey.

Charlotte: We occasionally hear length and strength pronounced with the "g" silent. Will you please comment?—B.B.

A. The pronunciation "lenth" and "strenth" are slovenly and have no sanction by any of the authorities. In best American usage the words are pronounced lengkth and strengkth.

St. Louis: In such expressions as "it is raining, it snows," what does the pronoun "it" stand for—the weather?—Mrs. J. W. H.

A. No, the word "it" in such constructions has no antecedent (it stands for no noun). It is the subject of the verb, and performs the function of a noun. "It" therefore is a noun.

"It rains," etc., is not a peculiarity of English alone. The same usage is seen in French, il pleut; in German, es regnet; in Spanish, es tarde (it is late), etc.

Kansas: Can you give my class a dependable rule for spelling such words as supersede, exceed, precede?—H.W.G.

A. Supersede is the only English word ending in -sede. Only three words end in -ceed: exceed, proceed, succeed. All other words of this class end in -cede.

Fitting Feet for Life

By DR. J. B. WARREN

If you have trouble or defects of the feet you should consult a chiropodist who, if necessary, will refer you to an orthopedic physician. Walk correctly. Do not toe in or out, but straight ahead. If you can't do this you will be advised to wear a leather lift on one side of the heels of shoes.

If you have no defects or discomforts keep that way by wearing shoes wide and long enough for your feet; keep soles and heels from running over by having soles and heels repaired before absolutely necessary.

British Stars Fly to Tucson For Wedding

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec 20 (INS)—Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger took off for Tucson by private plane this afternoon to be married

By the time this is in print Jean will be the bride of the English actor, whose real name is Jimmy Stewart.

They planned to be married as soon as they reached their destination

Michael Wilding, their best man arrived earlier today in Tucson and met them there As someone said, Wilding was "stached away" in a bungalow and told to keep out of sight

They will return here later to their house in Bel-Air, which Stewart bought for his attractive bride

She is 18 and he is much older They have been in love for a long time, but it wasn't until the English beauty came here to see him that they became officially engaged

I also hear that every effort is being made to get Jean free of her contract with J. Arthur Rank, so that she can make all her future pictures in Hollywood.

Globe-Trotting Girls Home for Christmas

WINNIPEG, Dec 20 (CP). — Two Regina girls who did what most business girls only dream about are all set for their first white Christmas in four years

Each armed with $60 and a one-way ticket to New Zealand, Kay Clews and Ione Joslin left Regina in September, 1947

They passed through here on the road back via train and they will arrive at Regina in time for Christmas

The first Christmas on their trip was at Australia, the second in New Zealand and the third in South Africa

"Three very hot Christmases, literally" said the girls today as they stopped over to soak up Christmas atmosphere.

Kay and Ione worked five years as comptometer operators at the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool in Regina before shaking loose for their trip

It was "on impulse" with finances coming from bonds purchased during the war

They said they only had two serious financial crises en route One was in Northern Australia, where "we were down to four cents."

FOUND JOBS

Added one "We were pretty desperate and had to live in a dive, but we found jobs within a week"

More serious was the lack of $400 to meet South African immigration laws.

"The immigration people were going to put us in jail," said Kay.

But Ione had an aunt in Capetown who finally wired us the money

They spent two months in England, sightseeing, and left with just enough money to get home

Canadian Trained Girl Manages British Theatre

KING'S LYNN Norfolk England Dec 20 (CP) — What is believed Britain's oldest theatre now has the country's youngest woman manager

She is 23-year-old, Canadian-educated Enid Vandyk, recently-appointed manager of St George's Hall, King's Lynn Last used as a theatre in 1814, St George's is undergoing redecoration and will be opened by the Queen in July 1951

Enid formerly secretary to Benjamin Britten, ranking British composer, is also manager of the 1951 King's Lynn Festival.

"I'm hoping to direct many Canadians around its points of interest," Enid told the Canadian Press

"It will be a reversal of old times," she added remembering her arrival in Canada as a 13-year-old war evacuee sent to school at Edghill Windsor N S

The theatre dating from 1406 was built as a guildhall under royal charter from Henry IV and has known many uses including courthouse corn exchange sail-maker's shop and armoury Its theatrical history started in 1442 and tradition has it that Shakespeare acted there in 1593 Haydn's "The Nelson Mass was performed there for Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton after the Battle of the Nile

LARGEST HALL

Largest and most completely surviving guildhall in Britain, the theatre was saved from demolition by the late A P D Penrose and presented to St George's arts trust for rebuilding as a theatre This is being carried out as closely as possible along the lines of the previous building and the fine trussed rafter roof has been retained and secured

Redecoration is financed by grants and donations Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary have generously contributed and two seats will be named in their honor

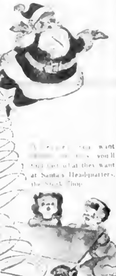

Only seven miles from Sandringham, the King's estate in Norfolk, King's Lynn and the theatre expect many royal visits Part of the township's Festival of Britain program includes trips to Sandringham gardens and church, opened to the public for two to three days

Canadian visitors to Britain find much interest in King's Lynn, birthplace of George Vancouver, British sailor who discovered Vancouver Island in 1792 Part of the birthplace a two-story cottage is still in existence and open to visitors The customs house where Vancouver's father worked is still in use.

Christmas Cheer

Jelly Salad Ideal Dish For Supper

Christmas dinner at noon is the custom in many homes on account of the children. Then the problem of what to have for supper confronts the homemaker. She wants something easy to prepare or something that can be prepared ahead of time, perhaps the day before.

After the special dinner and the tendency to eat just "one more slice of turkey" and "just a wee bit of pudding," which was so very good, no one wants any rich food. A refreshing jellied salad with thin bread and butter is usually a good choice. Plenty of crisp celery curls, carrot sticks and pickles should be passed separately. A dessert of cheese and crackers with a little tart jelly is just right and, of course, there will be fruit cake. For the children, who have not dined so sumptuously as the adults, ice cream in the shape of Santa Claus or Christmas bells will be a perfect ending to their day. These special moulds are usually made by the dairies but a home-made apple ice cream may be frozen in jelly glasses or other moulds and, after they are turned out to serve, a few bright colored candies sprinkled over will give the effect of a decorated tree. The bits of bright red apple skin add to the effect. To make the apple ice cream even more colorful, the home economists of the consumer section, Canada Department of Agriculture, suggest covering the bottom of the freezing tray or little moulds with cold cranberry sauce before topping with the ice cream mixture. Incidentally, the adults as well as the children would no doubt enjoy this not-too-sweet frozen desert.

- ¼ cup slivered, blanched almonds
- 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles

Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Heat soup and add soaked gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Chill. Combine the cheese, mayonnaise, celery, onion, almonds and sweet pickles. Add to the gelatine mixture, blending well. Pour into one large mould or individual moulds which have been lightly oiled or rinsed with cold water. Chill until set. Unmould on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. Yield: Ten to twelve servings.

CHRISTMAS STRIKE

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 20 (AP)—Public welfare workers went on strike yesterday demanding Christmas bonuses. They joined electric and telephone workers who have been out since Monday, also seeking bonuses. The Government called the strikes illegal. It said its funds are exhausted.

Popcorn Makes Attractive Centrepiece

Instructions are given below for making this attractive Christmas centrepiece of popcorn, a mirror, wrapping paper and glue.

Decorate for Holidays With Snowy Popcorn

Now with Christmas almost right here with us you'll want to plan some easy holiday decorations that give home a merry yuletide atmosphere.

And any Christmas decoration you make with popcorn is doubly welcome, because the kiddies can help with it, too.

To make the above snow scene, or one similar to it, you need only a few things . . . some kraft wrapping paper, a mirror (or piece of plain glass with silver foil paper placed underneath), a half-dozen meat skewers, a little glue and a few pieces of spruce. Little figures like the ones shown here can be picked up at almost any novelty shop. And you'll need some popcorn.

First step, after assembling your materials, is to place the mirror on the table, put the kraft wrapping paper around it in the shape of the scene, and to give you the conformation of the "ground" on which you're going to place your popcorn snow. You can build up the hill by placing a small cardboard box, crumpled papers, or an empty baby food can under part of the kraft paper.

Next pop a fairly good sized bowl of popcorn . . . and by touching the bottom of each piece with a little glue or rubbed cement (do not use wall paper paste or any glue which contains a lot of water as the popcorn will absorb it and get soggy) you can stick it on the kraft paper. Once the paper is completely covered with popcorn you can start making the trees. Make them just like you make popcorn balls. You'll need:

- 1 cup sugar
- ⅓ cup white corn syrup
- ⅓ cup water
- ¼ cup butter
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon vanilla
- 2 quarts Jolly Time popped corn.

Put sugar, corn syrup, water, butter and salt in saucepan and cook, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring (270 deg. F.) until syrup forms a brittle ball in cold water. Add vanilla and stir only enough to mix it through the hot syrup. Place popcorn in a bowl large enough for mixing. Pour the cooked syrup slowly over the popped corn and mix well.

SHAPE MIXTURE

Wet the hands slightly and start shaping the mixture into trees, using only enough pressure to make it stick together. If, before you are finished, the mixture starts to get too hard to shape into trees, it can be softened by warming it in the oven.

Place the sharp point of the meat skewers into the trees for "trunks." Skewers should be colored green. Use a food coloring, in case kiddies want a tree or two to eat as a confection.

If you wish, trees can be "decorated" by arranging small pieces of colored candy on them. You may wish to heighten the "snow" effect by sprinkling regular commercial Christmas snow over the popcorn on the ground and on part of the mirror.

Fancy Buttons

- ¾ cup butter
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups sifted pastry flour or 1¾ cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup shredded coconut
- ½ cup shredded almonds
- ½ cup chopped candied cherries

Cream butter. Blend in sugar. Add unbeaten egg and vanilla. Beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients. Lastly add fruit and nuts dredged with some of the flour. Drop by spoonfuls on an ungreased cookie sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., 12 to 15 minutes or until delicately browned. Yield: four to five dozen.

ANNUAL CONCERT

The annual Christmas concert of the Chinese United Sunday School will be held on Friday at the church, 528 Fisgard Street. Miss Muriel Lee is in charge of the program, assisted by Miss Sylvia Lee, Miss Alice Hong, Miss Hedy Bartling, Miss Mary Chow and Miss Beverly Eng.

The church has been decorated by the Young People's Union. Mr. Jack Spiller will be the chairman. All are welcome.

Turkey Popular In 1542

Turkey first appeared on Christmas tables in England around 1542. It must have been an interesting addition to the elaborate dishes which had been popular for hundreds of years. These included such edibles as swans and peacocks dished up in their feathers. This last delicacy was usually the last course, and perhaps the cook's idea was that the company would already have eaten too much to disturb his work of art. For the skin, with the feathers, tail, neck and head, were first removed intact and strewn with ground cinnamon, then the bird was roasted, being meanwhile basted with the yolks of eggs. When it was finished and had cooled, the skin was sewn on again, the beak gilded, and the proud peacock was ready.

Eisenhower and the Russians

Dealings in World War Shaped General's Views

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Dec 20 (INS) — General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower has embarked on the monumental task of strengthening the armor and the very resolve of Western European powers to fight, if necessary, the tidal wave of Russian and Red satellite power.

His experience with the leaders of the U.S.S.R. and their military commanders of the World War made a considerable impression on the general. He devoted the ultimate chapter in his "Crusade in Europe" (Doubleday) to his sharp misgivings of the future ambitions of a people about whom he had first written "the Russians are generous . . . the ordinary Russian seems to me to bear a marked similarity to what we call an 'average American.'"

DEALINGS REMOTE

As supreme commander of the Allied forces that moved against Germany from the West, while the Red Army lunged at Hitler's fortress from the East, Gen. Eisenhower's actual wartime dealings with the Russians were remote.

He knew, of course, that the Red Army wished to have no Allied observers near its front lines. From his air force he learned, too, of its great difficulties in persuading the Russians to set aside air fields for the use of our shuttle bombers.

In the early days of the occupation of Germany, Gen. Eisenhower struck up a warm friendship with Marshal Gregori K. Zhukov, Stalin's man on the Allied Council in Berlin. He attempted in every conceivable way to impress on Zhukov the need of the man's assuming an authority as sweeping as Gen. Eisenhower's own—for he felt he could do business with him that would cure the endless differences of viewpoint.

NEVER ON OWN

But Zhukov was never tempted to act on his own, though Eisenhower often taunted him good-naturedly about his timidity. He even took the matter to Stalin on his trip to Moscow. Atop Lenin's Tomb, reviewing an endless parade and demonstration, Gen. Eisenhower turned to Stalin and said.

"Marshal Zhukov and I get along splendidly. This is because great and powerful countries like yours and mine can afford to give their pro-consuls in the field a sufficient amount of authority to achieve accord in local details and administrative matters."

Stalin nodded and said, emphatically: "There is no sense in sending a delegate somewhere if he is merely to be an errand boy. He must have authority to act."

But Zhukov remained Stalin's errand boy and, in the end, was ordered back to Russia and reduced in prestige—because Gen. Eisenhower still believes, of his friendship for the American general who now conceivably might be forced to face his old foe as an adversary.

OTHER LEADERS

There were long talks with other Russian commanders in those first rosy days of the victory in Europe and from them Gen. Eisenhower learned things which now must be tabulated and filed in his remarkable memory—and in his plans as supreme commander of a force constructed to oppose Russia.

There was his talk with Marshal Budenny on the day the Japanese war ended. The old marshal did not join in the joy that came with the announcement. He complained that the Red Army had been deprived of killing "a lot more of those insolent Japanese." And Gen Eisenhower was struck by the fact that the man seemed to have no concern that continuation of the war would have meant death or crippling of countless more Russians

Germans Join In Demanding Full Equality

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 20 (AP)—On the eve of crucial arms talks in Bonn, West Germans appeared united tonight against service in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's new European defence force unless the North Atlantic Pact Allies grant them full equality.

This attitude promised hard going for the high commissioners of the United States, Britain and France, the occupying powers, when they open negotiations with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer tomorrow

WANTED FOR FORCE

The Brussels conference of the 12 Atlantic Pact countries decided Monday 150,000 Germans were wanted to help man the international defence force.

West German politicians and newspapers joined in reiterating demands:

1. West Germany must be accepted as "an equal partner."

2. There must be no major restrictions on the size or composition of German troop units or command staffs which do not apply equally to all member states.

Will Powder-Keg Be Lit?

Reaction on German Arming Awaited

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 20 (AP).—The international crisis has made a political powder keg out of Germany and the Western Allies are waiting to see whether Russia will put a torch to it.

The Atlantic Pact countries made it known yesterday they are offering planes, guns and ships to conquered West Germans if they will join Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's international army.

At the same time the United States, Britain and France agreed to meet Russia for a showdown on Germany "and other problems." Their notes saying so are reported to be on the way to Moscow. Informed sources in London said the notes would be delivered to the Kremlin Friday

Whatever the "other problems" are, one thing is clear: Leaders of both East and West regard even a defeated Germany as a major military factor in calculations of strategy.

That's what Prime Minister Stalin meant in the Autumn of 1949 when he told the East Germans there would be no World War if the German people refused to fight.

STRENGTHEN PEACE

That's what the West meant, yesterday when it said a German defence contribution would strengthen peace in Europe

The big question today is: Will Russia use her diplomats or her soldiers to keep the Germans in military quarantine?

The Soviet Government's official newspaper, Izvestia, raised today the cry that the Brussels decisions were made "by orders from Washington."

That was expected.

Russia accused both Britain and France last week-end of violating their treaties with the Soviets by backing German rearmament

She added that West Germany's neighbors, such as Communist East Germany, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, "cannot fail to take into account" this step toward the "rebirth of German militarism and to inevitable new attempts at aggression."

That seems a mild statement unless you recall that all Communist China said before plunging into Korea was that she "would not stand idly by" if United Nations forces crossed the 38th Parallel.

OPINIONS VARY

Opinions differ in the west on just how Russia will react to the Brussels decisions.

Some American officials feel Russia may launch moves to intensify the cold war. These might include:

1. Tearing up Soviet treaties with Britain and France. This would trouble France in particular because of inevitable political flare-ups fanned by a big domestic Communist propaganda machine.

2. Egging the East Germans into such things as another blockade of West Berlin, strikes and demonstrations.

3. Playing on Europe's fears of another war by louder sabre-rattling.

4. Encouraging Kremlin-directed Communist cells in each country to step up their programs of internal unrest by strikes, and non-co-operation.

Hon. Brooke Claxton, Canadian Defence Minister, who attended the meeting and left today by air for Ottawa, told reporters "the Government of Canada is considering the part it will take in the North Atlantic integrated force subject to approval of Parliament."

"That is all I can say now," the minister replied when asked whether Canada would send troops to Europe to contribute to the peacetime defence of the West "even before any aggression has actually taken place."

Canada Now Growing Most of Own Tobacco

By The Canadian Press

Tobaccos have so many names, often hinting of distant lands, that the average Canadian may not realize that most of what he smokes is produced right here at home, just like so many other things we used to import.

For tobacco growing, in the last 25 years, is one of the romances of Canadian agriculture and industry. It has taken light, sandy soils, once deemed virtually worthless for agriculture, raised from them crops now worth around $50,000,000, and saved that much in imports.

Most of it is used in Canada, and supplies more than 99 per cent of the tobacco in the 17,000,000,000 cigarettes which Canadians smoke each year

NEW BELT

Ontario's Norfolk County, on Eastern Lake Erie, known as the "new belt," is the biggest grower, but other producers are Essex County, known as the "old belt," at the western end of Lake Erie; Alliston, northwest of Toronto, Port Hope, east of Toronto; and Joliette, Que., north of Montreal.

The 1949 crop of flue-cured tobacco, the type used in cigarettes, was relatively high at 114,161,000 pounds, and this year's production should be close to that. But increased export demands are expected to create a scarcity next year, unless the yield can be raised to 130,000,000 pounds.

PLAN FOR YEAR

Today at Simcoe, Ont., in the heart of Norfolk County, directors of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association are meeting to consider what they should do about it, and decide on 1951 acreage.

With declines in demand for cigars, chewing tobacco, cut tobacco and snuff, stocks of other types of tobacco, produced in much smaller quantities, appear to be adequate, or, for some types, even in excess of normal demand.

Eight-year-old Faye Lee, McBriar Road, R.R 4, was taken to hospital for treatment of a cut right eye last night when the old model truck in which she was riding was in collision with the above Saskatchewan car at Hillside Avenue and Quadra Street. The truck was traveling north on Quadra and turning left onto Hillside, driven by Lee Han Wah of the same address. The girl's father, Lee Foo, accompanied his daughter to the Jubilee with the police ambulance. The pictured badly-damaged Saskatchewan car was driven by Carroll R. Vance, c/o 572 Michigan Street. The child was released after treatment.

Council Rises in Tribute To Late City Alderman

Standing in silence for a few moments on Tuesday, City Council paid tribute to the memory of former alderman William D Davies, who died last week at the age of 65

During the World War the late Mr. Davies served on council for some five years.

Alderman Duncan McTavish, a close friend, described him as "tops as a citizen."

"He was always ready to do something for the city," stated Alderman McTavish. "He was an out-and-out good citizen and a hard worker."

Mr. Davies was born in England and was a resident of Victoria for the past 41 years. He attained a reputation as both a sportsman and a philanthropist.

PROFESSIONAL BOXER

As a youth in a California logging camp his success in a camp fight turned him toward a professional career in San Francisco boxing rings. When he settled in Victoria and entered business he did not give up the sport, organizing the Victoria Boxing Club.

Mr. Davies spent many years with the Empire Realty Company and on his retirement a year ago was managing director.

He is survived by his wife, Marion; two sons, Jumbo and Albie, a daughter, Mrs. A. (Marigold) Stanley; a brother, Albert H., all of Victoria; and two sisters, Mrs. A Andros, Vanderhoof, B.C., and Mrs. B Brooks, Oakland, Calif.

Funeral services for Mr. Davies were held on Monday with interment in Colwood Burial Park.

SINGAPORE PATROL

SINGAPORE, Dec. 20 (AP).—Troops and police, with orders to shoot if necessary, toured the Moslem areas of Singapore last night and early today in the first curfew-free night since the bloody three-day riots of a week ago. No disturbances were reported.

Magistrate Fines Youth For Possession of Beer

Verne Frederick Staples, 772 Cloverdale Avenue, was fined $25 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court yesterday on a charge of being in possession of liquor while under the age of 21.

Staples pleaded guilty Tuesday. Constable Brian Ferguson told the magistrate he had had occasion to stop the accused while on traffic patrol duty. In the car, he said, he found two cases of beer, adding Staples had been drinking but was not drunk. The defendant said he had purchased the beer at a beer parlor, the constable stated.

"Starting on this sort of thing pretty young, aren't you?" asked Magistrate Hall.

When Staples asked for time to pay, the magistrate remarked that if the accused had enough money to buy liquor and drive a car, he should be able to pay the fine forthwith. However, he allowed him a few days to pay.

William Hodges, who is facing eight charges of obtaining money and goods by false pretences, was remanded to Friday to fix a day for trial.

Ram Singh, charged with assaulting Margaret Jean Singh and occasioning her actual bodily harm, was remanded to December 29 for trial.

Charged with careless driving, Henry T Bitterman, 2300 Quadra Street, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to next Wednesday for trial.

Glendower K. Allan, 7 Lotus Street, was fined $1 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to have a current radio licence.

Don't be HALF-SAFE

by VALDA SHERMAN

Many mysterious changes take place in your body as you mature. Now, the glands under your arms begin to secrete daily a new type of perspiration containing substances which will – if they reach your dress – cause ugly stains and clinging odor.

You'll face this problem throughout womanhood. It's not enough merely to stop the odor of this perspiration. You must now use a deodorant that stops the perspiration itself before it reaches – and ruins – your clothes.

As doctors know, not all deodorants stop both perspiration and odor. But Arrid does! It's been proved that the new cream deodorant Arrid stops underarm perspiration 1 to 3 days safely – keeps underarms dry and sweet.

Remember this, too. Arrid's antiseptic action kills odor on contact – prevents formation of odor up to 48 hours and keeps you "shower-bath" fresh. And it's safe for skin – safe for fabrics.

So, don't be half-safe. Don't risk half safe deodorants. Be Arrid safe! Use Arrid to be sure. Arrid with Creamogen will not dry out, and it's so pleasant and easy to apply. Get Arrid – Canada's largest selling deodorant – today!

Victorian Receives Letter Appraising Car Market, Banking, Flowers in U.K.

By RAY BAINES

Containing a lengthy treatise on British banking, the car market, housing, food prices, wages, international exchange, European and colonial politics, a letter to David Scholes of 1610 Pinewood Street from Norman Rathbone of Blackpool, England, reads like an essay on current events.

Mr Scholes' English friend is banker with Barclay's Bank in Blackpool. The letter, containing 11 closely typewritten pages, presents an interesting picture of domestic conditions in present-day Britain.

Mr. Rathbone devotes two pages to a detailed summary of how to buy a car under stringent Government regulations. Costing him £710, a new car was originally ordered in January, 1947 and finally delivered November, 1950.

FORBIDS SALE

The English banker discreetly adds that since acquiring the new car, he has been offered £1,200 for it but has chosen to remain within the bounds of British law which forbids re-sale of an automobile within a year of original purchase.

In a mildly cynical piece on food rationing, Mr Rathbone admits a Christmas food bonus allowed by "a grateful Government" consisting of extra cooking fat, bacon, "sweets" and a turkey—if you care to pay £10 for a 15-pound bird.

"I almost did the Government an injustice," says Mr. Rathbone, "I forgot to mention that if you are over 70 years of age, you can have an extra quarter pound of tea in addition to your usual weekly two ounces—Brave New World."

He admits that "things are better than they were" but his letter suggests that many feel things should be even better after five years of peace.

Commenting on international monetary exchange, the English banker somewhat doubts the soundness of what he sees as a superficial improvement of dollar reserves in England. Americans sending money "over here" expecting re-valuation (although the practice is denied by authorities, he says) improved British dollar reserves only on paper, he points out.

Improved balance of payments between European countries may be merely apparent and not real, Mr. Rathbone says.

Speaking of the British labor picture, Mr Scholes' correspondent points to the strong British unions who have become powerful enough to "wring the last penny from the employer and the public." A British bricklayer is not permitted to lay more than 300 bricks per day, he says, although his wages are probably 200 per cent greater than before the war.

TENANTS HELPED

On housing in Britain, Mr. Rathbone explains the difficulty of owning a home under new Government regulations. Tenants of rented houses, he points out, are protected by regulations which prevent evicting them except for serious reasons. Government red-tape and high taxes make the lessee of a house better off than the owner, except for the possibility of re-sale and the subsequent capital gain on which there is no tax.

Mr Rathbone expressed interest in the comparable salaries of his banking equivalents in Victoria. Taking relative values of money and costs of living, they would seem be about equal, he decided.

On international affairs, Mr. Rathbone expresses the plea of almost anybody anywhere when he says "God help us if there is another (war)."

THE END

"It would be the end of this country as a great power if not an end to its existence altogether," he adds.

Showing somewhat more optimism for European affairs, Mr. Rathbone refers to letters from "a friend" in Berlin which "are not so full of 'incidents' as they used to be." Things seem more "tranquil" in Europe and particularly "easier" in Germany, he summarizes.

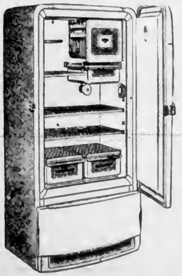

Rounding out his views on numerous subjects, Mr. Rathbone adds a piece on chrysanthemum shows, of which he is an enthusiastic follower, and the delights of watermelon, a delicacy in England which used to cost as much as £1 apiece during the war and now about half that amount.

The interesting letter is written on stationery from "Barclays Bank Limited, 338 Lytham Road, South Shore, Blackpool, Lanc."

Mr Scholes regularly sends Mr Rathbone copies of current Canadian and American publications in which the Englishman shows a great interest.

Oil shares opened firm but later eased, while in foreign section fractional gains were recorded by German and Japanese bonds.

The exchange will close at 3 p.m. (London time) next Friday and reopen December 27.

Car Models for 1951 Now on Display

Chevrolet for 1951 presents new profile, with extended rear fenders, newly designed grille, longer, lower, more sweeping lines; and many other features. Chevrolet also offers Powerglide automatic transmission, as option at extra cost. Powerglide is fully automatic and eliminates clutch pedal and mechanical shift. This is first fully automatic transmission to be offered in lowest price field. Also offered are new Jumbo-Drum brakes which require 25 per cent less pedal pressure. Shown above is 1951 Chevrolet Styleline De Luxe four-door sedan. There are 11 other models including Chevrolet Bel Air, Canada's first "hard-top" convertible.

Stocks Keep Rising Despite Confusion

The stock market managed to carry its current rally through four straight sessions yesterday after a sharp encounter with selling forces.

Only a feeble rally in late trading prevented the market from tipping downward for the first time since President Truman put the nation on an emergency mobilization basis.

Confusion over the voluntary price freeze and new war tension brought the sellers out in full force and the result was a decidedly scrambled market. Both gains and losses ranged from a few cents to around $1.50 a share.

Of the 1,195 individual issues traded, 597 made some forward progress and 356 lost ground.

Despite another decline in turnover, business still progressed at a high level.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced ten cents at $86.70, hitting a new 20-year high for the third straight day.

TORONTO GAINS

Industrials advanced for the fourth straight day on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Industrials climbed in early dealings and then settled at their higher levels in the afternoon. Steels, utilities, agriculturals, foods, refining oils, liquors, textiles and retail stores showed a majority of gains.

Base metals declined.

Senior golds dipped fractions and junior producers tended to decline.

Western oils were irregular and quiet.

MONTREAL MIXED

Securities settled in a narrowly mixed path near the close on the Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market following early buoyancy. Trading was moderately active.

Apart from the rest of the market, beverages gave a fairly strong display, with gains ranging to around two points.

The industrial section gave a thoroughly mixed appearance.

A moderate list of papers were mainly unchanged to slightly weaker.

Senior metals were mixed. Utilities were mainly unchanged to easier, as were the banks. Senior oils were unchanged.

VANCOUVER FIRM

Oils held firm in trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange. Golds held steady while metals showed an easier trend.

In the oil section, Allied, Home and Princess showed gains. Del Rio posted a loss.

Ottawa Sells No Butter To Overstocked Dealers

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP)—Dealers with more than a fortnight's supply of butter on hand are going to be out of luck if they try to buy any Government butter.

An Agriculture Department official said today that the Government has established the policy of not selling any of its butter stocks to dealers who already have more than two weeks' supply in warehouses.

TWOFOLD POLICY

The policy is twofold:

1. To prevent build-up of stocks by speculators who may boost the price when scarcities show.

2. To make certain that Government butter is being piped into the trade in a slow steady stream, geared to the program of equitable distribution across the country throughout the Winter months.

Any dealer may buy Government-held butter, said the official, whether he has purchased butter from the Government in previous years or not.

All he has to do is apply to the Agriculture Department, show he has the cash and hasn't an over-supply of butter. Since most of Canada's storage butter is held in Government-inspected warehouses the Government can easily find out just how much a dealer has.

SUMMER SURPLUS

Most of Canada's butter is produced during the Summer months. The Government, supporting the market, purchased Summer surplus at about 63 cents a pound and built up a stock of about 35,000,000 pounds.

Altogether, the storage stocks held by both the Government and the trade, amounted to about 70,000,000 pounds, and the official said these were sufficient—and no more than just sufficient—to meet all of Canada's Winter needs.

If any dealer went into the business of hoarding, building up heavy supplies, shortages would result and prices likely would climb. That was what the Government was trying to prevent.

Will Enlarge Oil Refinery

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP)—A contract has been awarded to Foster-Wheeler Ltd., St. Catharines, Ont., for extension of the Edmonton Refinery of Imperial Oil Ltd.

The additions will be a fluid catalytic cracking unit with auxiliary gas recovery plant and a vacuum distillation unit.

Each of the two units will have a capacity of 10,000 barrels a day, and are the larger part of a program estimated to cost $5,000,000.

The new equipment will increase production of high-octane gasolines, but will not add materially to the refinery's capacity nor number of employees.

The cat cracker, Imperial Oil states, will be the first of its kind in the world, and will be simpler to operate and more efficient than present types.

Construction will begin in the Spring, employing about 400 men at the peak, and is expected to be completed in mid-1952.

Firm Announces Car Price Raise

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 20 (CP)—Price increases on its 1951 passenger cars were announced today by the Chrysler Corporation of Canada. The increases range from 4.83 to 6.43 per cent, and do not affect the 1950 models.

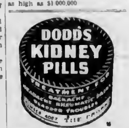

E. C. Row, Chrysler general manager, noted "very substantial" increases in all the company's costs within the last two years, during which the company had not increased prices.

The new prices will be applied when first 1951 models are delivered in January. They will affect Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler cars.

The Chrysler price boost follows by nine days announcement of price increases for Ford of Canada passenger cars. Ford prices were raised 4½ to 8½ per cent.

STORES BURN

SOMERSET, Ky., Dec. 20 (AP)—This city's two largest department stores, bulging with stocks of Christmas merchandise, were destroyed by fire of unknown origin early today. Unofficial estimates of damage ran as high as $1,000,000.

Grains Erase Early Losses

WINNIPEG, Dec. 20 (CP)—Early losses on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today were erased or reduced in the latter half of the session as a better class of commercial demand appeared on strength of United States markets.

American account took oats and barley in moderate trade.

Export business reported was consignments of 350,000 bushels of wheat to India and 150,000 to the United Kingdom. South Africa was allocated 90,000 bushels.

Class Two and 1 W.A. wheat rose ¼ cent.

DON'T FENCE ME IN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Paul Robeson asked the Federal District Court here yesterday to order the State Department to stop preventing him from going abroad.

The negro singer, who told a Communist-sponsored World Peace Conference in Paris last April that American negroes would never go to war against Russia, informed the court that the department canceled his passport last July.

A passport is necessary to leave the country.

BARRED FROM AIR

PRAGUE, Dec. 20 (AP)—American ambassador Ellis O. Briggs returned to Prague by train last night because Czech authorities would not let him fly in.

He came from Frankfurt, Germany, on the last leg of his trip from Washington, where he has been consulting with the state department.

The Ministry of National Defence gave no reason for refusing to permit the ambassador to fly in.

Muriel Jennings Wins Butchart Prize For Assistance to Girls' Drill Team

For her "invaluable" assistance to the Victoria Girls' Drill Team, Miss Muriel Jennings, 21, of 3280 Quadra Street, last night received the Butchart Memorial Trophy.

The presentation was made at the Club Sirocco at the team's 13th annual concert by Alderman Harold Diggon.

Captain Norman Foster, the team's founder and director, praised Miss Jennings for her attendance at 1940 rehearsals, proficiency in drill work and assistance as piano accompanist for the rest of the team.

The trophy was donated by the late Mrs. R. P. Butchart, who was colonel of the drill unit.

Miss Jennings has been with the team for three years.

More than 400 turned out to see the colorful concert, sponsored by the drill corps council of the tourist trade group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Of all the acts, the opening can-can number proved the most popular, and front-row aldermen and other dignitaries scrambled for the garter rosettes thrown to the auditorium by pretty dancers.

Master of ceremonies was Al Collins, CJVI announcer.

Singers were Jean McCormick, Joe Dahkie, Joe Fee and Jan Rhodes.

Wayne Farrow and his youthful partner, Phyllis Pollard, delighted the audience with waltz numbers.

The program line-up:

Piano solo, Muriel Jennings; tap dance, Marilyn Wilson; accordion solo, Eddie Sapola; piano solo, George Foxcroft.

A display of magic by William Harkness ended the program.

Dye Marker Only Trace Of Bomber

A colored dye marker carried for emergency use by American naval planes is the only trace found of a long-range patrol bomber missing from Whidbey Island naval air station last Monday.

The American twin-engined Neptune took off on a routine trip with 11 men aboard about 8 a.m. and the last position report from the plane was received two hours later. It was scheduled to carry out a training exercise over the Pacific Ocean due west of Cape Flattery.

When the plane did not report back to base on schedule, American naval officials immediately launched an air search.

About 2 p.m. a dye marker was spotted by one of the search planes approximately 400 miles west of Vancouver Island. There was no sign of the plane or survivors.

Yesterday the search continued with the assistance of a crashing flying boat from Sea Island, Vancouver, and the Canadian Navy's auxiliary tug Clifton.

The tug, with a civilian crew aboard, searched an area about 45 miles southwest of Cape Scott on the northern tip of Vancouver Island. No trace was found of the plane or a nose wheel that had been sighted in the area by an American plane.

The navy tug will continue to search today weather permitting. At latest reports yesterday she was riding out a storm in shelter.

Hospital Orderlies Hold Christmas Party

The Orderlies and Cleaners' Club of the Victoria Veterans' Hospital held its annual Christmas party at the Esquimalt Community Club Hall.

A concert was presented by the children following distribution of the toys by Santa Claus. O. Edwards was master of ceremonies.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"SYNAGOGUE"—A Greek Word, Denoting First of All With People

When John Milton used the word "synagogue" to denote any assembly of men, he brought out a rhetorical and now obsolete employment of this word, and he pointed as well to its origin.

Today the term rogue is understood as the building where worship those of the Jewish faith. Actually, however, this is not a Jewish or a New-new word for "church." It is from the Latin "synagoga" that it comes into English, out of its origin in Greek. And the Greek means: "a bringing together," or "an assembly," from "to bring together" in the special sense of "to lead."

"Synagogue" stood for a congregation in the early Christian church. And in Old Testament history the allusion was to the council of perhaps 120, first appointed after the Babylonian captivity.

Thus the "synagogue" was first the group of persons, and only by extension the house of worship in which they were brought together.

Oak Bay Orders Pipe for $90,000 Waterworks

A total of 4,000 feet of 20-inch steel piping has been ordered for Oak Bay's $90,000 waterworks project which was approved Saturday by the ratepayers, A. S. O. Musgrave, municipal engineer, informed the municipal council last night.

The engineer said it is hoped delivery will be made by November, 1951, although many factors could affect the delivery date.

Completion of this work will alleviate water shortages during the Summer months. Oak Bay will have direct water service from the Greater Victoria Water Board's chief supply main. The connection will be made at Lansdowne and Foul Bay Roads, and the Oak Bay main will be laid on Lansdowne Road to Weald Road.

HEALTH GOOD

Dr. Neil Stewart, medical health officer, told the council general health of residents of Oak Bay is good, only six infectious diseases being reported in the last three months.

After hearing a report from the doctor, the council passed a motion expressing appreciation for work done by the Parent-Teacher Association at the baby clinic.

Total attendance this year, Dr. Stewart stated, amounted to 671.

The Canadian Institute of Sanitary Inspectors told the council Thomas Watt, sanitary inspector for Oak Bay, has not passed the examination for the Certificate in Sanitary Inspection, according to its records. It was pointed out that the Health Act requires sanitary inspectors to be to possession of the certificate.

A. D. Findlay, municipal clerk, said the letter apparently was the result of a press report which gave the impression Mr. Watt had just been appointed to the position.

"The act does require the mentioned qualifications, but it also states that the section does not apply to any person who has been duly appointed and holds that position at the time of the enactment of the section. This section was enacted in 1927 and Mr. Watt was appointed in 1934," stated Mr. Findlay.

The institute will be so informed.

DONATED

Mrs. Gladys F. Burns, 2840 Cadboro Bay Road, wrote to the council stating she will donate to the municipality the necessary strip of land off the front of her property to conform with the widening of Cadboro Bay Road.

Council accepted the donation with thanks.

IN ACCORD

In reply to a letter from the Hospital Insurance Service regarding the St. Joseph's Hospital board of management, council will answer it has no objection to W. L. Woodhouse continuing on the board as municipal representative.

BAD CURVE

Mrs. C. J. Robertson, 1027 Foul Bay Road, pointed out to the council the Lazard on Foul Bay Road in front of her property. She said the curve in the road is sharp and deceptive adding there have been two accidents there recently.

The engineer was instructed to investigate the possibility of acquiring some property to remedy the condition.

City Real Estate Board Urged To Back Gorge Canal Project

Support of the Gorge improvement proposal was urged by Ald. Percy Scurrah, chairman of the City Council's Gorge canal committee, addressing a luncheon meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

Report of an engineering survey begun last August would be ready for presentation to council "in a day or two," Ald. Scurrah said.

Ald. Scurrah said he was convinced that construction of the proposed 1,500-foot canal linking Thetis Cove with Portage Inlet would benefit the community from both a health and recreational point of view.

BOAT CLEARANCE

In reply to a question as to whether the canal would be "just a sewer cleaning project," he said that according to present plans, it would be "big enough for small boats not over six feet in draft."

Ald. Scurrah said he felt that both the Provincial and Dominion Governments "have responsibility" in the matter.

Proposal that the Real Estate Board endorse the improvement program was referred to the executive of the board for further study.

A showing of "Pride of Possession," a film made for Central Mortgage and Housing, followed Ald. Scurrah's address.

Boxer Hurt Remains Unconscious

NEW YORK, Dec 21 (Thursday) (INS).—A neurologist ordered an immediate operation early today on Sonny Boy West, Washington, D.C., lightweight fighter who was kayoed in the seventh round of a ten-round bout by Philadelphia's Percy Bassett at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

The neurologist, Dr James T. Daniels, and New York State Athletic Commission Dr. Vincent Nardiello said the veteran negro fighter had suffered a "blood clot" on the brain and was in "critical condition."

Dr. Nardiello was to perform the operation with Dr. Daniels assistance.

West, who was driven to the canvas by a smashing right to the chin, never regained consciousness. Dr Nardiello, who was unable to revive the fighter in the ring or the dressing room, ordered him taken to St. Clare's Hospital.

Bassett battered West about the ring with a volley of lefts and rights to the head in the kayo round. West staggered into the ropes, his knees sagging.

West broke away from the attack and slithered along the ropes to his own corner with Bassett in pursuit. The Philadelphian caught up with Sonny Boy and scored a terrific right to the chin.

West went down, his head hitting the canvas with a loud impact. Referee Harry Ebbets counted ten over the unconscious fighter and took out his mouthpiece just as Dr. Nardiello entered the ring.

West, his left leg pulled up to his side, did not move after being floored.

HOW THEY STAND

	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Toronto	18	8	8	107	61	44
Detroit	16	6	6	98	56	38
Chicago	11	12	6	74	81	28
Montreal	10	14	8	80	87	28
Boston	8	10	9	80	90	25
New York	6	12	10	54	91	21

Next game, tonight: Boston at Chicago

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs stormed to a 6-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens in Toronto last night to extend their National Hockey League lead to three points over the idle Detroit Red Wings.

In the loop's other contest, Boston Bruins came from behind to tie with New York Rangers in New York, 4-4.

A crowd of 12,639 was at Maple Leaf Gardens to see the Leafs' resounding victory.

Max Bentley, the league's leading point-getter, scored two Toronto goals. Their other tallies were by Fern Flaman, playing his first game for the Leafs since he was traded by Boston, Tod Sloan, Cal Gardner and Harry Watson.

Maurice Richard counted Canadiens' second-period tally.

PENALTIES HURT

Referee George Gravel handed out 16 penalties—including four last period majors for fighting—in the bruising contest.

Only two of the penalties had a direct bearing on the scoring. Bentley got his first goal while Defenceman Doug Harvey of Canadiens was serving one of the three minor penalties he got during the night.

Bentley's second goal also came during a power play while Harvey and Floyd Curry were serving Montreal sentences in the third period.

STAGE DONNYBROOK

A donnybrook broke out in the closing minutes of the game. Calum Mackay tangled with Leafs' Harry Watson near the centre ice strip and the two slugged it out toe-to-toe for about four minutes before they were separated.

A few feet away Flaman and big Tommy Manastersky, rookie Montreal defenceman, put on a similar battle but officials broke it up before they were able to stop the Mackay-Watson main bout.

All four players got major penalties for the brawl.

13TH DEADLOCK

Defenceman Bill Quackenbush's goal at 17.40 of the third period gave the Bruins their tie. It was the Rangers' 13th tie in 30 games.

The tie, before a father-and-son night Madison Square Garden crowd of 7,461, left the Rangers in the cellar, still one point back of the fifth-place Bruins.

Bill Quackenbush, who teamed with his brother Max on the Bruin defence, notched the tying rally on a play with Lorne Ferguson and Milt Schmidt.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

History was made Monday afternoon when directors of the Victoria Baseball & Athletic Co. Ltd., invited reporters to attend a meeting. While in full sympathy with the present financial plight of the company, it was so easy to remember that this precedent-shattering event was dictated by adversity.

It isn't piling it on either to say that the current situation highlights a five-year failure in public relations which contributed largely to the big deficit. Through a lack of knowledge and, perhaps, at times a lack of desire, the Athletics were never really "sold" as a Victoria team and never really accepted as one by the fans. This in spite of the fact that the club was actually owned by the scores of Victorians who bought the shares which launched the enterprise.

But the A's are a Victoria team, Victoria-owned and Victoria-operated and it would be to the advantage of the community if they remained as such. There are many fans who proclaim that they don't care who owns the club as long as they get a winner, many others who actually believe they desire a change of ownership. And here is the failure in public relations. There aren't many fans who couldn't be won over if the A's could be sold as a Victoria team.

Outside ownership promises nothing except that the new owners would be investing their money for the prime reason of showing a profit. They might give the fans the desired winner, but there is no assurance of that. If they lost as much money as the current ownership, they would probably salvage what they could and leave Victoria without a club.

The club finds itself in difficulties mainly because of an all-out effort to produce a winner last season without benefit of a working agreement. While the deficit is a large one, the situation is not as bad as it first appears.

There is less than $40,000 of outstanding stock and the franchise is worth more than that. Salem raised $50,000 in short order to buy a franchise not nearly as valuable.

Also, there is every reason to believe that once on a solid footing, the A's can be a paying proposition each season. The Portland working agreement assures a player supply and a drastic reduction in salaries. A revision of the present 60-40 split of home gates would also mean a considerable saving. Under this setup continued fan support would do the rest, and more. Victoria is too good a baseball town to be without baseball. Let's keep control of it here.

Random Harvest

And before this goes any further, please don't ask me who finished at the bottom of the list in the tenpin tourney at Gibson's Bowladrome over the week-end . . . Victoria Cougar's "Kid Line" is flying again and it is doubtful if Coach Roger Leger will go through with his announced plan of line-up switches which would break it up . . . Efforts of the Commercial Hockey League officials to curb rough play are to be commended. The players do not depend on hockey for their livelihood and an injury which would keep them from work for any period is a tough financial blow . . . "Moose" Johnson, one of hockey's better-known performers years ago, who lives in Portland, opines that New Westminster, Tacoma and Victoria will finish in the P.C.H.L. play-offs . . . Cougars have played nine ties and were caught in six of them. Those six points are the difference between second place and a tie for fourth . . . Geoff Surman is looking much improved since getting a chance at his old position at centre and his play in recent games is doing much to make up for the loss of Captain Bernie Strongman . . . Sports fans will read with interest the results of The Canadian Press sports poll naming the top athlete in various sports for the past 50 seasons. While this department forgot to mail in his selections, here they are for the sake of the record. Hockey, Howie Morenz; golf, Stan Leonard; rowing, Joe Wright, Sr.; lacrosse, Newsy Lalonde; tennis, Marcel Rainville; swimming, no selection; top woman athlete, Bobby Rosenfeld; track and field, Percy Williams; football, Lionel Conacher; soccer, no selection; basketball, Chuck Chapman . . . Washington State steelhead fishermen are still talking about the 26-pounder taken by Omer Dion in the Chehalis River recently . . . Mainland duck hunters are reported extremely pleased over their split season. The second half opened Saturday and there are ducks in abundance with many instances of limit bags.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Chicago over Boston in tonight's N.H.L. game. Tomorrow, Cougars over Tacoma and Seattle over Portland in the P.C.H.L. Batting average to date: At bat 349, hits 226, percentage .[illegible]

Ironmen Handed Shutout By Rejuvenated Royals

HOW THEY STAND

	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts.
New Westminster	18	11	4	130	98	40
Portland	16	11	2	146	97	38
Tacoma	12	17	7	91	101	31
VICTORIA	16	18	6	96	109	30
Vancouver	8	12	11	97	116	29
Seattle	8	18	6	86	96	22

Next games, tomorrow: Tacoma at Victoria; Portland at Seattle.

New Westminster's champion Royals, apparently rolling again after a slump which jeopardized their P.C.H.L. lead, blanked Seattle Ironmen, 5-0, at Seattle last night to extend their lead over Portland to seven points. It was the first loss for the Ironmen in seven games and the first time in six games that Joe Bell, high-scoring Seattle forward, had failed to score.

FOURTH SHUTOUT

Taking advantage of penalties to score three of their goals while Seattle was short-handed, Royals received another good job in the nets from Lucien Dechene, who earned his fourth shutout by making 29 saves. At the other end, Phil McAtee only blocked 15 or 20 goal-bound shots.

Bob Koch set the pace with two goals, while Joe Peterson, Vancouver discard, and Ken Ullyot, league-leading pointmaker, each assisted twice.

Expecting to ice all of their players with the exception of captain Bernie Strongman, Victoria Cougars will take aim at a share of third place at Memorial Arena tomorrow night when they host Tacoma Rockets in a fixture that gives every promise of providing top entertainment.

GREAT RIVALRY

The last two games between the clubs, who are rapidly becoming prime rivals, have been extremely rugged. The Cougars won on Tacoma ice and then went down to the Rockets here two weeks ago.

Coach Roger Leger hopes to have three complete sets of forwards, two defence combinations and a utility player for the important battle. Joe Lepine is expected back in action, and if he is ready for full-time duty, will probably pair Stan Long on one of the back lines, leaving Fiori Goegan available for utility duty. Leger will announce any changes in his attacking units tomorrow but it is believed that he will stick with the regular Dorohoy-Masur-McIntyre, Abbott-Frampton-Hebenton and Burmann-Evans-Medynski units.

The game is a "four-pointer." A Victoria win would tie the Cougars with Rockets, while a loss would leave them four points out of third place and still in a tie with Vancouver Canucks.

Rose Bowl Queen Meets Wolverines

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 20 (INS).—Michigan's Rose Bowl footballers arrived in sunny Pasadena today and just to show how happy he was to get out of the Midwestern cold, Coach Bennie Oosterbaan ordered a rugged scrimmage.

Lovely Rose Bowl Queen Eleanor Payne and her court of six Pasadena beauties greeted the Wolverine gridders with oranges and smiles but Oosterbaan, the killjoy, traded them for footballs and snarls.

Royals to Rebuild Club; Aim for United Players

All Coast Soccer League clubs in general, and Victoria United in particular, will be the immediate target of New Westminster Royals in the next ten days before the C.S.L. transfer deadline on December 31.

Royals let it be known yesterday that no team will be safe in their efforts to rebuild a cup-tie contender before the transfer deadline.

WANT MILLIGAN

Their immediate targets are Wallace Milligan, Jack Spry and Bob Findler of United and Ivan Carr and Joe Jordan of Vancouver City. It is not likely that they can lure Milligan away from United. Rated one of the most dangerous forwards in the C.S.L., Milligan has moved his home to Victoria and is working here. He has expressed a liking for Victoria and is taking an active interest in coaching juvenile clubs. Spry and Findler may be another matter. Both still reside in New Westminster and commute for games with United. Carr nearly joined Royals two weeks ago and is still regarded as a good transfer bet. Jordan may also make the jump if Carr can be lured from City.

Royals started their season in brilliant style, winning three of their first five games and tying the other two. Then they went into a tailspin and dropped seven straight.

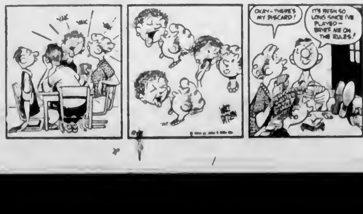

MANAGERIAL CHANGE

The seventh defeat brought the firing of veteran Trev Harvey as coach and the naming of Jack Coulter as his successor. Malcolm Peacock then resigned as manager with Aubrey Sanford taking his place. Peacock was kept in the organization and given the post of vice-president.

An unidentified club official stated yesterday that several good Vancouver and District League players had been recommended to the club for rebuilding purposes. "We'll have a look at them," he said, "but right now it's experience we're after."

Former Welterweight Ruler Canada's Outstanding Boxer

Jimmy McLarnin Draws Near-Unanimous Vote In Canadian Press Poll Covering 50 Years

(This story is one of a Canadian Press series on outstanding Canadian sports figures, teams and events in the first half of the century. Selections were made in a poll of Canadian sports editors and sportscasters.)

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP)—Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver newsboy who blazed a glorious fistic trail across the United States and retired a rich man at 29, is Canada's outstanding boxer of the half century. He received the nod by almost-unanimous decision of the country's sports editors and sportscasters.

Idol of millions in his fist-swinging hey-day when he drew top billing in rings on the United States West Coast, in Chicago and finally New York's Madison Square Garden, Yankee Stadium and Polo Grounds, McLarnin parlayed a slick left and burning ambition into the world's welterweight championship. He retired with something few boxers ever have—a whopping bank account.

VOTED SOLIDLY

The sports editors and sportscasters, asked by the Canadian Press to name the country's greatest boxer of the last 50 years, voted solidly for the well-to-do Jimmy. He received 32 of a possible 43 votes, the others going to heavyweight Tommy Burns, Sam Langford, Larry Gains and Lionel Conacher, and to British Empire lightweight champion, Lil Arthur King.

Elected to the Ring's Hall of Fame last Spring McLarnin, known across Canada and the United States as Baby Face, probably met and defeated more champions or future champions—13 all told—than any other fighter. Yet he had to wait nearly nine years before he could climb into the ring for a fight billed as a world-championship contest.

And Baby Face made no mistake that night of May 29, 1933, at Los Angeles when his big break came against Young Corbett III, world's welterweight titleholder. He took the championship with a knockout at 2.37 of the first round—the shortest championship battle in the history of the division.

LOST TO BARNEY

Just one day less than a year later he lost it to lightweight champion Barney Ross at New York, and scaled the heights again September 17, 1934, with a 15-round decision over Barney. They met in the rubber match, May 28, 1935, and Jimmy lost over 15 rounds.

Ross grew out of the welter division and Tony Canzoneri took over. Baby Face met him and lost, but reversed the decision, October 25, 1936. His last bout was against Lou Ambers—a clean-cut victory for the Canadian who had left Vancouver 11 years before with Charlie (Pop) Foster, his trainer-guardian-counsellor and still fast friend.

His list of ring opponents down the years reads like a boxing who's who—Pancho Villa . . . Kid Kaplan . . . Sid Terris . . . Sammy Mandell . . . Al Singer . . . Benny Leonard . . . Young Corbett III . . . Ross . . . Canzoneri . . . Ambers—all champions.

Belfast-born Jimmy now 42, lives in Glendale, Cal., with his Vancouver-born wife, Lillian Cupitt, and three daughters.

Now it's caviar for the kid from the wrong side of the tracks who, at one time early in his career existed on brussels sprouts. Now it is the cosy comfort of his own home for the youngster who lived in flea-bitten cheap hotels and boarding houses while the man who made him—Pop Foster—tried to line up fights.

Drawing a large vote of the fight knowledgeable and the sympathetic was blind, broke, almost-forgotten Sam Langford, Weymouth, N.S. born battler. Once a bull-throated, broad-shouldered, powerful man known as the "Boston Tar Baby," whose challenges to champion Jack Johnson were ignored, the 70-year-old Langford now lives alone in New York's Harlem.

Langford went to London, Paris, Melbourne, Sydney, Perth and Brisbane as the uncrowned heavyweight champion. Unable to get a title bout, he later toured the United States, picking up fight dates wherever he could.

Tommy Burns, born Noah Brusso in Hanover, Ont., 68 years ago, and the only Canadian ever to wear the heavyweight crown, was second choice in the C.P. poll with five votes. Claimant to the title vacated by James J. Jeffries, Burns met Jack Johnson at Sydney on Christmas Day, 1908. The fight was stopped in the 14th round with the 176-pound Canadian taking a fearful beating from the 196-pound, six-foot-two Johnson.

Burns now is an evangelist in the small oil-field town of Coalinga, Cal.

WON TITLE

Gains, who won the Empire heavyweight title in London in 1932 from "Phaintin Phil" Scott, knocked out one-time heavy champion Max Schmeling at Cologne, France, outpointed Primo Carnera in 1932 and rode to hounds in the Midlands, now is a day laborer at Shoeburyness, Essex, England. His income ranged around $8,000 for years, but it was easy-come, easy-go for the Toronto-born negro.

Conacher, one-time holder of the Canadian amateur heavyweight title who once boxed a four-round exhibition with Jack Dempsey, now is Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto Trinity. He and 23-year-old, Toronto-born King each received one vote.

Morenz Tops Hockey Poll

TORONTO, Dec 20 (CP).—Howie Morenz was named the most outstanding hockey player, and the Ottawa Silver Seven team of 40 years ago finished in a dead heat with Toronto Varsity Grads of 1926-1927 as the greatest hockey team, in a poll of Canadian sports editors and sportscasters.

Morenz, who had color in every motion and whose brilliance stood out in an era of colorful and brilliant players, led by a wide margin over ten other players, whose careers date from the days of the storied Silver Seven at the turn of the century to the present day. The hurtling Habitant, who died March 8, 1937, at the age of 34, polled 27 votes.

RICHARD NEXT

Maurice Richard, present Montreal Canadien star, was next with four votes, followed by Fred (Cyclone) Taylor, ace of the Silver Seven, with three; and Frank Nighbor, poke-checking artist with the old Ottawa Senators, with two. One vote each went to rambunctious Eddie Shore of Boston Bruins, Nels (Ole Poison) Stewart of Montreal Maroon teams, Newsy Lalonde and Aurel Joliat of Montreal Canadiens, Syl Apps of Toronto, Milt Schmidt of Boston, and Turk Broda of Toronto.

Morenz' lifetime pro record from 1923-24 to 1936-37 produced 270 goals and 197 assists for a 467-point total. He won the Hart Trophy as most valuable player to his team in 1928, 1931 and 1932, and was named to The Canadian Press all-star team in 1931 and 1932. He was made a member of the hockey Hall of Fame shortly after it was set up.

Morenz began his hockey career at Stratford, Ontario, and signed his first pro contract with Montreal Canadiens for $1,600 in the 1923-24 season. His great, reckless speed and headlong rushes immediately made him a million-dollar box-office attraction. He was the Babe Ruth of hockey and became known as the Canadien Comet, the Hurtling Habitant, the Mitchell Meteor and the Stratford Streak. He never had a fight during his career.

After 11 seasons with Canadiens Morenz went to Chicago Black Hawks in a three-cornered deal with the Hawks and Maroons. He was traded to New York Rangers in 1935 but returned to Canadiens the following season. His skate penetrated the boards during a game on December 26, 1936. He fell but the imbedded skate held fast and his leg was broken. A nervous breakdown complicated his illness. He was rallying but complications set in and he died suddenly on the night of March 8.

HOWIE MORENZ

WHO'S WHO

The Silver Seven and Varsity Grads each drew four votes in the team poll. The rest of the poll reads like a history of Canada's national Winter game. There were the Stanley Cup teams of Canadiens in 1924, 1930, 1944 and 1946, Toronto Leafs of 1931, 1942 and 1945, Boston Bruins of 1930 and 1941, Montreal Maroons of 1935, Ottawa Senators of 1909, 1921-22-23, and New York Rangers of 1928 and 1933.

Also named were the Allan Cup champion Winnipeg Vics of 1912, Toronto Granites of 1923, Port Arthur Bearcats of 1926, and Moncton Hawks of 1934. Memorial Cup champion Winnipeg Falcons of 1921 and Toronto St. Mikes of 1947 also drew votes. One vote went to the Kenora Thistles team of 1906-1907.

Ullyot Boosts Scoring Lead; Dorohoy Gains

Ken Ullyot, stellar New Westminster Royals' centre boosted his lead in the Pacific Coast Hockey League individual scoring race to three points last night by picking up two assists in Royals' victory over Seattle Ironmen.

Teammate Norm Kirk, who held the lead until last week, was held pointless again but retained the runner-up position as his nearest pursuers, members of Portland Eagles, were idle.

Eddie Dorohoy of Victoria Cougars moved into sole possession of ninth place by garnering an assist on Eddie Mazur's goal against Vancouver Canucks on Tuesday.

The Sportlight

—By GRANTLAND RICE—

When the simple matter of money enters a picture or a plan, there is usually trouble later. The trouble now with the PGA tournament plan is between the leading veterans, who only want to play a certain number of golf tournaments, and the younger bunch who want every week filled.

The big cards today are the veterans, especially Ben Hogan and Sammy Snead. Hogan isn't physically equipped to handle many 72-hole marches. He expects to play in only a limited number of tournaments. Snead has a teaching job at White Sulpher Springs and Sam is no longer a bounding kid. He has been around for close to 20 years. Sam also wants to limit his appearances.

But the younger golfers feel quite differently about it. As one of them explained to me—"We win few tournaments. These trips cost us a lot of money. We can't beat the Hogans and Sneads and Mangrums. But we still pay out our money to try. We think it's a good thing not to have the stars in all the tournaments. When they are out some of us have a chance to win a tournament or at least finish up in the money. As things are we are making the tour and paying out good money that only a few pros win. We get no guarantees. No one cuts our railroad fare or Pullman costs. Hotels charge us from $10 to $15 a day. Our caddie payments are now around $6 or $10 a day. It all adds up, especially when you haven't much of a bankroll. We don't want to face Hogans and Sneads and Mangrums all the time. Give us a break. Give us a chance to break through."

This sounds both fair and interesting. But evidently these ambitious young golfers don't know much about chambers of commerce, whose only interest is names that will draw the crowds. Only the Hogans, Sneads, Mangrums, Palmers or Demarets count with them. They forget the veterans are wearing out, that they can no longer play from one tournament to another. Many of them can only stand some 12 or 15 tournaments a year. Staleness comes with a rush in golf. It's a very knotty problem, no matter how you take it.

The Case of Snead

"I've been batting around these tournaments for nearly 20 years," Snead said recently. "Give me a fairly good rest between tournaments and I can still do all right." It might be noted that Snead had three 66's over the tough 7,000-yard test at Pinehurst in early November and that he also had three 66's over the 7,000-yard Miami course recently to win both big tournaments in a West Virginia gallop. And he was playing with borrowed clubs.

"But I can't do any good playing week after week," Sam continued. "I'm not offering this as any alibi but I've played in too many Opens when I was tired before I started—from too much golf. I can promise you I'll get a good rest before I get to Oakland Hills next Summer for the 1951 Open. I know you can't play any game well when you are stale—and that goes double for golf."

The odd part about Snead is that his last two tournaments have found him at his all-time peak. He has been 13 under par through each 72-hole test, over two of the toughest routes.

"I believe the three 66's I had at Pinehurst were about the best golf I ever played," Sam said. "As I recall it I didn't have a hole over par and I can't recall any shots I missed. I usually miss plenty—or at least my share."

I believe Snead has carried a fine golf game as far as anyone I ever knew—including Walter Hagen, one of the greats of all time. Hagen came to the top in 1914 and he was still playing well 20 years later. Hagen won his last Open—the British—in 1929. That was 15 years after his first—the United States. But Snead's pace today—hotter than it has ever been—is terrific.

The Sailors took a commanding lead in the first two periods and then held off a determined Nanaimo rush to win 3-2 in the feature game of a two-game card at Memorial Arena last night.

Culmone Gives Up Quest

Miller Unaware His Mark Intact for Another Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP).—Walter Miller, the amazing little jockey from New York's ghetto, probably doesn't know it but his record of piloting 388 winning mounts home in one season still stands on the books. And it isn't likely to be topped this year.

All hope of reaching, or even surpassing the mark set 44 years ago was given up today by jockey Joe Culmone, the 19-year-old Sicilian and the only saddle artist with a faint hope of cracking Miller's victory parade. Culmone has 370 winners to date.

"I'll have to settle for the national title this year and let it go at that," he said at Miami today as he watched the horses go around at Tropical Park. He must bring home 18 winners in the nine days of 1950 racing left to break the record.

IN MENTAL HOME

Miller is in a New York State mental institution unaware that his record was challenged by Culmone. Up to this year it had never been threatened on North American tracks.

Miller's story is told by "Sunny" Jim Fitzsimmons, famous trainer of three Kentucky Derby winners, who was Miller's agent when the jockey was a sensation.

"Like many of our present-day riders, Miller sprang into prominence, figuratively, overnight," he recalls in an article in the January issue of Turf and Sport Digest. Fitzsimmons attributes the jockey's record to his ability to get his mount away from the post on top.

Miller's first mount was a 3,000-to-1 filly named May J.—and no takers—in 1904 at the old Gravesend track on Long Island. Miller got her away on top but the filly ended an also-ran.

FIRST WINNER

After riding about 20 races on horses which had little or no chance of winning, Miller won his first race at the old Bennings track, near Washington, D.C., in the early Spring of 1904, on the 60-to-1 shot Heir Apparent. And from there in, there was no stopping him.

He was in demand by the early Fall, hung up his record two years later, followed it with 334 winners in 1907 and left the United States the next year when he started to get heavy. His American record was 1,012 winners from 1905 to 1906.

He next was heard from in England and then Germany where he had a reasonable amount of success despite his increasing poundage.

He rode for the Kaiser and the noted Baron Oppenheim and gradually dropped out of the racing picture.

Lately, with Culmone threatening Miller's record, it was learned the one-time great was in an institution.

Shoemaker Closes Gap On Culmone

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP).—Willie Shoemaker, still hopeful of overtaking Joe Culmone as the leading United States jockey of the year, rode two winners at Fair Grounds track today to move within ten victories of the idle pacemaker.

Shoemaker had seven mounts at the New Orleans course and registered astride Gen. Custer and Show Place. Those triumphs gave the Texas lad a total of 360 winners for the season, compared to Culmone's 370.

Culmone has not ridden at Tropical Park since being injured in a spill last Saturday.

Marlboros, St. Mikes in Fight For Ontario Major Puck Lead

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Marlboros Clubs currently lead the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior "A" and Major Series Leagues, although the seniors share top honors with their city rivals, St. Michael's Monarchs.

The Marlboros and Monarchs meet Friday night in a special four-point fixture which will determine leadership of the four-team loop.

Quebec Aces continue to top the Quebec Senior Hockey League, six points ahead of Valleyfield. Ottawa Senators, with 33 points, are third, two points behind. Then follow Montreal Royals, Chicoutimi, Sherbrooke and Shawinigan Falls.

Another Quebec squad, the Citadels, still pace the Junior Provincial League. Three Rivers, with 28 points, are six behind.

IN LIMELIGHT

The loop's top-scoring Jean Beliveau, with the Citadels, attracted favorable attention last Saturday when he moved up to the National Hockey League with Montreal Canadiens. Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrion of the third-place Montreal Canadien Juniors also played with the big-league Habitants last Saturday and scored their only goal in a 1-1 tie with New York Rangers.

In the Eastern Canada League a late-starting team, Pembroke Lumber Kings, has sprinted to the front on four victories and three ties in nine starts. Cornwall Calumets are second.

North Bay Black Hawks, Ottawa RCAF Flyers, Ottawa Army and Hull Volants follow in the E.C.H.L.

In the Ontario Hockey Association major series, besides the deadlocked leaders, two teams are tied for third place.

Hamilton Tigers and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen have been scrambling most of the season to stay out of the cellar.

The Junior O.H.A. is a merry chase with eight of the 10 teams within checking distance of one another.

Barrie is second, five points behind the Marlboros. Oshawa, Guelph and St. Catharines are tied for third, one point behind Barrie. Galt and Windsor are knotted one point back of the trio and Windsor lacks only two points of being in the statistical dead-heat.

Hockey Teams 50 Years Ago Were Tougher

HAMILTON, Dec. 20 (CP).—Percy Lesueur, goalie with the famed Ottawa Silver Seven at the turn of the century, said today that the grueling hockey of his era required a more rugged player than does the present-day brand.

The Ottawa club, one of the country's most potent hockey teams from 1903 to 1908, was selected along with Toronto Varsity Grads of 1926-27 in a Canadian Press poll as the top team of the half-century.

Now 69 and night manager and sportscaster with Radio Station CKOC here, Lesueur admits that the older type of hockey lacked the dash of today's dazzle-dazzle style. But, he said, in his day there was more passing, more stickhandling and the players were better shots.

As he recalled the old-time warriors of the Silver Seven they included: Goal, Bouse Hutton ('03, '04), Dave Finnie ('05), Billy Haig ('06) and Lesueur; defence, Harvey Pulford and Art Moore, both great football stars as well; centre, the brilliant Frank McGee and Harry Smith; rover, Harry Westwick; wings, Alf Smith, Billy Gilmour, Suds Gilmour and Dave Gilmour.

One of the great efforts of the club, he recalled, was Frank McGee scoring 14 goals in a single game. The outstanding scoring spree took place in a Stanley Cup challenge game with a team from the Yukon in 1905. Ottawa won, 23-4.

Demarco Tops All Branches In Point Race

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP).—For the second straight week, Buffalo's brilliant centre, Ab Demarco, leads the American Hockey League in all three scoring departments. He has 53 points on 22 goals and 31 assists—all top marks.

His closest competitor is teammate Grant Warwick, with 38 points on eight goals and 30 assists.

Among the goaltenders, Pittsburgh's Gil Mayer is tops. The diminutive netminder has allowed only 54 goals in 27 games for an average of 2.00. He has chalked up three shutouts.

Ivan Irwin, Cincinnati's husky defenceman, continues to pace the loop in penalties, having served 83 minutes in the penalty box.

Californian Seeks Bout With Charles

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20 (AP).—A heavyweight title fight here in February between champion Ezzard Charles and Clarence Henry is in the negotiating stage today as a result of Henry's decision last night over another Los Angeles negro battler, Willie Bean.

Matchmaker Babe McCoy of Olympic Auditorium said he will resume dickering today with Charles' manager, Jake Mintz, who had promised a 15-round title shot to the winner of the Henry-Bean encounter.

Big Turnover Of Coaches On Grid Teams

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP).—Eight major colleges in the United States are shopping around for new head football coaches today in the wake of one of the heaviest turnovers in the sport's history.

They are Ohio State, Minnesota, Southern California, Boston College, Brown, Duke, Virginia Tech and Richmond.

A ninth institution, Texas, has lost and gained a coach since the season began. Ed Price was named to the top post of the Longhorns to succeed Blair Cherry, who resigned.

Jeff Cravath, Southern California—Quit today after nine years with the Trojans. Plans uncertain.

Wes Fesler, Ohio State—Resigned to enter the real estate business.

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota—Resigned post he had held since 1932. Doesn't plan to remain in the coaching business.

Denny Myers, Boston College—Head coach at Boston since 1941, he resigned with another year to go on his contract.

Gus Zitrides, Brown—Resigned after team lost eight of nine games.

Packers Best League, Alley Kegling Marks

Bowling from scratch, Canada Packers of Gibson's Commercial Fivepin League, posted a three-game count of 3,789 to set new league and alley records for the season. Their total betters by 162 pins the total posted by Northwestern Creamery of the same loop earlier in the season.

Three members of the Packers topped the 800 mark, with Hugh Cowan showing the way with 857, including a final game of 370. Andy DeGirolamo added 836, including a single-game score of 274, and E. Dann contributed 810. Hap Milliken, with 674 and Art DeGirolamo with 612, rounded out the record total.

Packers, runner-up in the ten-team loop, took four points from Coca Cola but failed to gain on the league-leading Northwestern quintette, which took four points from Eagles.

Arrow Furniture increased its undefeated string to five games in the Victoria and District Senior "B" Basketball League last night, defeating Fletcher's Men's Wear 45-39 at Victoria High School gym.

After a sluggish beginning, it was Arrows' game all the way until Fletcher's erupted into action in the final minutes of the fourth quarter.

The winners held a 25-18 half-time lead and were still ahead 36-29 going into the last ten minutes of play. Then Fletcher's began forcing and with four minutes remaining held Arrows to a one-point advantage at 39-38.

QUICK SIX

But from then on the red-shirted Clothiers couldn't find the basket and the Furniture boys slipped through two foul shots and two baskets.

The scoring parade for the winners was led by Ralph Anderson, who netted 17 points. Jim Ransom, ousted in the final minutes with five fouls, had 11.

Gordie Bamford paced Fletcher's with 18 points.

In the preliminary games, Comets staged a last-half comeback to down Moose 35-28 in a senior "B" women's attraction and Forresters defeated McNutt's Loggerettes 35-23 in a junior girls' game.

Cy Wallis Tops Fivepinners With 252 Mark

Victoria's fivepin bowlers are getting their strikes with considerable regularity if individual averages in two leagues—Gibson's Commercial and Financial—can be taken as a criterion. No less than 23 bowlers are boasting averages of 220 and over, while 50 others are averaging 200 or better.

Cy Wallis, always consistent, is leading the way with a 252 average for Red's Service of the Commercial Fivepin League. Hugh Cowan, another bowler who seldom has a bad night, is next in line with 241 for Halfway Taxi in the Financial Fivepin League and also holds third place with his 236 for Stubbys, Commercial League entry.

Don Corbett owns both the high single and high three, 418 and 878, respectively, made while bowling for Ideal Barbers in the Commercial League. Les Larson, 380; Don McCaig, 367; Bill Hinton, 365, and Dunc McCaig, 363, are next in line with high single games. Cowan, 898, Al McHaffie, 866, Larsen, 866, and Norm Bambrough, 846, are others listed with high threes in the two leagues.

Canada Packers of the Commercial League last night set the team high with 3,789 from scratch, 162 points better than the previous listed mark of 3,627, set by Northwestern Creamery.

Other bowlers averaging 220 or better in the above two leagues are: G. McRae, 235; Buzz Long, 232; John Latham, 232; McHaffie, 231 and 227; Corbett, 231; Andt DeGirolamo, 229; Don McCaig, 228; Lou White, 227; Buzz Morgan, 226; Dunc McCaig, 226; G. Refuses Offer

FORD FRICK

President of National League, Frick yesterday denied he was candidate to succeed A. B. Chandler as commissioner of baseball. "I would not accept job if it were offered to me," he said. "I am well content where I am." Frank Shaughnessy, president of International League, also disclaimed any wish to have Chandler's job.

MOVE DEFEATED

PARIS, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the National Assembly today voted 21-20 against the renewal of diplomatic relations between France and Spain. The vote was on a Communist motion, but the Socialists took the lead in fighting against an exchange of Ambassadors between France and Spain.

Boxers to Fight Enemy, Not Other Pugs in War

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (INS).—Boxing probably will be the first to feel Uncle Sam's axe in the event that it should become necessary to curtail or even to abolish certain sports in a national emergency.

In talks with some military men lately we gathered the impression that this time Uncle Sam is going to figure that if the pugs can fight with gloves for cash, they also should be able to pack a gun for their country.

And Uncle Samuel won't let himself be kidded into taking them on as so-called morale builders in rear echelons for the amusement of the boys who may have to do the real fighting.

STIFFER RULES

We understand, too, that Uncle Sam is going to tighten up on the rules concerning deferments. We already have seen one young major league pitcher given F-F status merely because he has one bad eardrum.

That bum eardrum does not prevent him from hearing everything his manager whispers to him nor prevents him from pitching. Why shouldn't he pack a gun like the rest of the boys not so fortunate as to have a major league ball club back of him?

Madison Square Garden authorities will shed no tears if boxing should be given a recess for a time. The garden actually lost money on the last fight, Friday night when only a handful paid about $13,000 to watch a stinkeroo staged by the I.B.C.

Some of the Garden stockholders would like to see boxing abolished entirely in the Garden. The Oerden could fill those dates—26 this year—now taken up by fights. In fact, the Garden has a waiting list of conventions, etc., only too eager to move in if boxing moves out.

The fight racket never was in such poor condition as it is today. And for many reasons.

POOR TALENT

The main reason, of course, is lack of talent.

A second reason is poor matchmaking and use of house fighters to the exclusion of others trying to break into the Garden.

Another reason is the lack of common sense among the managers of fighters who want 100 per cent the best of it in trying to protect their meal tickets.

The powers that be in the racket would have you believe that the attendance at fights has dwindled almost to the vanishing point only because there is a shortage of entertainment dollars available.

That is pure hokum. The New York race tracks showed a gain both in attendance and betting while the fight game has been losing. And there is no hotter fight fan than the average race track punter.

But while the turf follower may be a sucker for the races he does not carry that wide-eyed innocence into the fight racket. He knows his fighters and he knows when he is being fed a turkey.

There hasn't been a fight this year worth more than a five-buck top and the promoters should have paid the fans to attend most of the shows they staged. Fight fans may like to waltz but they don't like to watch them.

Roster Error Still Puzzle For Drillon

HALIFAX, Dec. 20 (CP)—Gordie Drillon, the former National Hockey League smoothie, was still wondering tonight how his name appeared on the player's list of Moncton Hawks of the Maritime Major Hockey League.

"When I was released as coach of Hawks, I was released . . . period," he said. "It was a complete surprise to me, this week, when I saw my name on the official Moncton roster as a player."

The Halifax Chronicle Herald, meanwhile, quoted Gene Connolly, secretary-registrar of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association, as saying appearance of Drillon's name was an error.

"Drillon is a free agent, to my mind," Connolly was quoted.

Bruhn Applies For Coachship At Old School

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 20 (INS).—Milt Bruhn, a guard on Minnesota's 1934 National champions, is scheduled to arrive in Minneapolis tomorrow for an interview as a possible successor to football coach Bernie Bierman.

Bruhn is currently an assistant to coach Ivy Williamson at Wisconsin.

Among those already interviewed by Minnesota Athletic Director Ike Armstrong are Army assistant Murray Warmath, Illinois High School coach H. V. Almquist, Andy Gustafson of Miami University and Paul Bryant of Kentucky University.

Gustafson recently signed a new ten-year contract with Miami and Bryant returned to Kentucky saying that he wanted to stay there "forever."

Tiremen Lose Playing Coach For Six Weeks

Frank Warshawski, playing-coach of the Douglas Tire Commercial Hockey League team, suffered a shoulder separation during last Monday night's game, it was reported last night.

Warshawski will be unable to return to the ice for approximately five or six weeks. However, he will continue to coach the team from the bench.

Loss of Warshawski is a serious blow to the Tiremen, who meet Fishermen's Co-op for undisputed possession of first place in the Commercial loop on Tuesday.

Nine Fielding Records Set in National League

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP).—National League players broke or tied nine fielding records during the 1950 baseball season.

The honor of turning in the most remarkable defensive display went—without argument—to Wes Westrum of New York Giants who, catching his first season as a regular, committed only one error in 139 games to set a league fielding mark of .999.

In breaking the old mark of .998 set by Earl Grace of the 1932 Pittsburgh Pirates, Westrum handled 680 chances, participated in 21 double plays and was credited with 21 assists. The latter two feats were high among the league's backstops.

DOUBLE PLAY MARK

Gil Hodges of Brooklyn set a double-play mark for first basemen by participating in 159, and his teammate, Jackie Robinson, did the same for second basement with 133. Hank Thompson, the Giants' freshman third baseman, set a new standard for that position by figuring in 43 twin killings.

The previous records were held by Frank McCormack, first baseman for the 1838 Cincinnati Reds, Tony Cuccinello, second baseman of the '31 Reds, and Pie Traynor, great third-sacker of the '25 Pittsburgh Pirates.

Red Schoendienst of St. Louis established two marks for second basemen when he played through 57 straight games and handled 320 chances without an error. He held the previous records of 44 games and 285 chances.

Third baseman Willie Jones and shortstop Oran Hamner of the Phils each tied the previous record by playing 157 games. Tommy Glaviano, Card third baseman, tied another mark on the unhappy afternoon he committed three errors in one inning against Brooklyn.

FIELDING LEADERS

Hodges topped all first basemen with his glittering fielding average of .994. Robinson led the second basemen with .986, and still another Dodger, Billy Cox, was high among third basemen with .957.

As might be expected from that, Brooklyn led in team fielding with an official .978.

The 34-year-old Marty Marion, new manager of the St. Louis Cards, led the league's shortstops with a .978 average in 100 games. Wally Westlake of Pittsburgh posted the top figure among the outfielders when he made only three errors in 336 chances for a .991 average.

Carl Furillo of Brooklyn was credited with more assists than any other outfielder, with 18, and his teammate, Roy Campanella, was the hardest-working catcher in the league with 848 chances and 813 putouts.

SLOWER STILL

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Telegraph operators at Johannesburg, who are on a "go-slow" strike, have reduced their sending rate to quarter-speed because their half-speed tactics did not have "the desired effect."

The strike began Monday to press demands for increased wages and unpegging of cost-of-living allowances. Delay on telegrams was 24 hours and on cables 28 hours.

New M-G-M Film in Offing For Popular Red Skelton

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20 (INS).—I watched Red Skelton at the annual Los Angeles Examiner show, and I realized then as never before what a really extraordinary entertainer he is, and how popular with fans of all ages.

I was just about to tell M-G-M that something should be done about Red's popularity, when Dore Schary beat me to it. He says the international popularity of Red Skelton has never before hit its current peak, and never have people needed laughs as badly as they do now. As a morale builder for both civilians and the armed forces, this type of entertainment, represented by Skelton, is in greater demand.

That means one thing. There's a story being readied for Red, and here it is—"McHenry's Civil War," by William Bowes, which Carey Wilson is scripting for Red, with Jack Cummings slated to produce.

FEELS YOUNGER

I really felt like a debutante the other day when I met a distinguished-looking woman who said, "Aren't you Louella Parsons, and didn't you graduate from the Nixon, Illinois, High School?"

When I answered in the affirmative, she replied, "I was your English teacher."

She was, indeed, Florence Hallam, and she is still teaching. Her pupils, however, are now the young children of the M-G-M. school.

I continued to shed a few years when one of the Meglin kiddies said, "Miss Parsons, we have the same teacher. I have Miss Hallam, too!"

SPECIAL BROADCAST

For the first time in radio history an entire city will cancel all commercial programs on all stations to carry a special broadcast of "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

San Diego, Cal., has blocked out fifteen minutes time on Saturday night on all its eight networks to carry Charles Laughton's reading of the Nativity. The broadcast is being sponsored by 110 churches in the San Diego area.

Charles, who returns from his Shakespearean and Bible reading tour on Thursday, goes to San Diego to confer with church heads on this wonderful broadcast.

Let me say, in these heartbreaking and war-clouded days, there is no story more deeply important than that of the birth of the Prince of Peace.

CHAPTER XI—Continued

"He doesn't understand what you're saying," L'Ioni said. "He doesn't speak Hausa."

I stared at my companion. "What language do they speak at N'zem?"

"Luobolange."

I thought of the months at Tani when I had tried to diagnose and treat patients intelligently in spite of the drawbacks of an interpreter. Now again I had not tongue, no ears.

"You'll get along," L'Ioni assured me. "I'll get you a teacher. Learning the language will slow you up a little, but in the end you may make more haste by a little less speed in the beginning."

I laughed, but I had no illusions about the brutally difficult labor ahead of me.

CHAPTER XII

The last night before we reached N'zem, L'Ioni asked me to marry him. Perhaps if I had been younger I would have reacted a good deal differently. "For heaven's sake!" was all I could get out at first. "Why me, of all people?"

"Not 'of all people', Ellen, but of all the women I've really had a chance to know. I can give you as nice a house as there is in Leopoldville, and everything that goes with it," he went on. "And security. I'm not too young, and neither are you, and I'm not pretending I get hot and cold when I look at you but—Africa can be an awfully lonely place, Ellen, if one doesn't have someone to come back to after trips into the bush. And I'd be good to you."

"But, L'Ioni, I—I'm a missionary, a professional Christian worker," I finally burst out.

"Isn't homemaking Christian work?" he answered. "And if you wanted to, there is no reason why you couldn't work in the villages surrounding Leopoldville, or even in the native quarter there."

"But L'Ioni, I—I never thought of loving you," I finally got out, with all the finesse of an elephant in a rose garden.

"I never brought the subject up before, did I?" he answered, and we both laughed.

"Love for people our age, Ellen, isn't what it is for young folks. Friendship and respect are what count now. Young love has to boil down to that anyway if it is to last a lifetime. . . . And—I'm clean and decent. I don't drink or gamble or dissipate. I've never bought a black woman. I've never carried booze in my trade goods. I make a good profit, but what I sell doesn't hurt or degrade any purchaser. I stick by my bargains—"

"L'Ioni," I broke in suddenly, "how old are you?"

"Thirty-five."

"I'm old enough to be your mother," I remarked.

"Native or missionary standard?" he queried slyly.

"You find some nice girl nearer your own age," I encouraged. "There's Sister Susanne, for instance."

"Let me pick out my wife, Ellen," he chided.

L'Ioni didn't say much more about the matter, either then or in the future, but it was a standing offer. Any time I might have wished, for the next two decades, I could have moved into Leopoldville and taken my place with the townswomen there as wife of one of the richest, most respected men in the territory.

The next day we reached N'zem. The villagers had known for days that we were coming, and as we entered N'zem, a feast was in preparation. "For you as Dr. Mary's successor," L'Ioni told me. But I wondered if it were not equally for him as Dr. Mary's friend—or possibly just because he was himself. He denied this vigorously.

There was not a great variety of food, but plenty of it, and the quantities consumed were a thing to marvel at. The men and women swelled visibly as they gorged themselves, and, once the feast had begun, no one but L'Ioni and I stopped eating until every scrap had been consumed.

"How did you like the feast?" L'Ioni asked suddenly. "That little dark-brown cake you ate several pieces of—you liked it?"

"Uh-huh. What was it? Millet cake?"

L'Ioni only looked at me. "Shall I really tell you?" It was evident that he was enjoying some huge joke. "It was midge cake. Tiny gnats, you know. They sometimes come out of the swamps in swarms so thick that you can't breathe without a cloth over your face. The natives rake them out of the air by the basketful, press them into cakes, and dry them. Then, when they want them, they toast them a little to take any mold off. They're considered great delicacies."

"L'Ioni," I said calmly, "you're a beast."

Then I stood up and wobbled behind a hut. Firmly I clutched my forehead in one hand, leaned over, and held my skirts back with the other. Nothing happened. There was nothing to do but to turn and go back to the fire. L'Ioni met me with a grin.

"The python and the monkey were delicious," I announced, without knowing why I said such a thing.

His grin faded and he stared like any popeyed child. "You really knew what you were eating and you ate it anyway? I have to hand it to you, Ellen—you're some woman!"

Uncle Wiggily Story - - - -

By Howard Garis

BUSTER'S SLED

Uncle Wiggily was coasting down Big Hill on the bark toboggan sled made for him by Guffy the bear. The rabbit gentleman was coasting very fast, for Big Hill was steep and a toboggan is a very fast sled.

Uncle Wiggily was not coasting so fast, though, that he could not see Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. The muskrat lady housekeeper was running to and fro in front of the bungalow. She was looking at the snow-covered ground. She did not look up. That is why she did not see Uncle Wiggily coasting toward her.

"Well, Uncle Wiggily, this is a surprise!"

Nor did Nurse Jane hear Uncle Wiggily coming. For the toboggan was gliding along so swiftly and smoothly that it made no more noise than a feather falling from the cage of the canary bird.

Just as Nurse Jane turned around in her quick little to-and-fro journeys in front of the bungalow, and just as she had her back turned toward Uncle Wiggily on the toboggan, that it when she got her big surprise.

For Uncle Wiggily bumped into Nurse Jane. The front end of the toboggan—the curved end, you know—hit Nurse Jane in the back. It knocked her off her hind feet. It toppled her over and Nurse Jane sat right down beside Uncle Wiggily on the toboggan.

"Look out, Nurse Jane!" shouted Mr. Longears. But he did not shout in time so Nurse Jane couldn't get out of the way.

"Well, Uncle Wiggily, this is a surprise!" said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. The toboggan, with her and Uncle Wiggily on it, coasted a little farther and came to stop at the back door of the hollow stump bungalow. "This is surely a surprise, Uncle Wiggily," said Nurse Jane again.

"I didn't intend it to be so," said Uncle Wiggily. "I am very sorry, Nurse Jane. I hope I didn't hurt you."

"No, you didn't hurt me," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. "He! He! He!"

"Why are you laughing?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he got off the toboggan sled and helped Nurse Jane get off. "What is so funny, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy?"

"It was such a funny surprise," was the answer. "That's why I laughed. Now I will laugh again." So Nurse Jane laughed: "Ho! Ho! Ho!"

"What was that laugh for?" asked Mr. Longears.

"That laugh," explained Nurse Jane, "was because I liked so much the toboggan ride you gave me as a surprise."

"Oh, that ride was nothing," said Uncle Wiggily. "It was too short. Next time I will give you a longer ride. But tell me, Nurse Jane, why were you walking up and down in front of the bungalow, looking at the snow? Were you looking for something?"

"Yes, Uncle Wiggily. I was looking for a red ribbon. I lost it off my tail this morning when I was getting breakfast. Have you seen my red tail ribbon, Mr. Longears?"

"Yes, Nurse Jane, I took your red ribbon to tie on my secret Christmas tree. And that reminds me. I must tell my wife the secret."

So Uncle Wiggily told his wife about the Christmas tree and she was very happy. Now I'll tell you about Buster's sled. As you may remember, Buster and Bunty took their sleds to school when they saw the snow. And after school Buster went coasting on his sled down a hill back of the school. Many other boys and girls were also coasting there.

"Here's where I go faster on my sled than any of you fellows!" shouted Buster. He threw himself on his sled at the top of the hill. Down he went fast, faster, fastest, ahead of everyone. And then, suddenly, Buster had a funny adventure on his sled. I'll tell you about it tomorrow if the ice cream cone doesn't get stuck in one of the holes of the Swiss cheese so it can't go to the movies with the rye bread.

(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

William Holden's 13-year-old daughter, Virginia, underwent a tonsilectomy but she'll be as good as new by Christmas.

Where blanks occur in the tables the tide rises or falls continuously during intervening times between the high and low waters as given. 6.4 feet must be subtracted from the heights in this table to conform with the datum of soundings on the charts of the locality.

Tension Grips Indians, Wolves At Prospect of Caribou Feast

CHURCHILL, Man., Dec. 20 (CP).—Caribou from the Barren Lands in numbers greater than ever before are reported along the Hudson Bay railroad south of here.

But that does not mean the natives necessarily got what they needed as the animals migrated southward from their Summer feeding grounds. Caribou do not always follow the same route.

Tension grips the caribou-eating Indians at migration time. If the animals pass within 100 miles the Indians will know, for scouts are scattered through the area. The Eskimo will range quite as far when the caribou are expected.

NECESSARY

Caribou are necessary to the welfare of the Northern native, except Eskimos who live along the coast and on the Arctic islands. These people use seal. The others—by far the greater number—depend on caribou meat for food, caribou skins for clothing.

The Government comes to the rescue when it learns of natives being without food. But missionaries who have worked many years among the Eskimos say the white man's food does little more than prevent starvation. For vigorous health the natives need their natural diet: the easily-digested, strength-giving meat of the caribou. And no man-made fabric approaches caribou hide, tanned with the hair on for lightness, warmth or wind-proofing.

ALWAYS MOVE

Caribou are long distance travelers, always on the move, eating caribou moss. Where the moss has been closely cropped, it takes several years to become re-established. This explains the absence of caribou for a number of years in some districts.

At one time these Northern deer grazed on the flats near the present town of Churchill. Then for 25 years not one was seen. Eight years ago they returned, even running through the streets. But this year no caribou have been seen here.

Men well-equipped to judge believe the number of caribou is diminishing. The natives at times kill many more than they need. But far greater is the number destroyed by wolves.

And while the number of caribou decreases, the number of wolves is said to be increasing. The caribou has one calf a year, the wolf has three to eight pups. Through the long Winter, caribou is the wolf's main food.

WOLVES

This year, along the western shore of Hudson Bay, some Eskimos have had to return from their traplines because wolves have destroyed caches of caribou meat put up in the Fall for their own use and for their dogs.

A great caribou migration is an awe-inspiring sight. If crowded, calves are sometimes forced on the backs of older animals.

The herds are at their most beautiful during the Fall migration. The hairy coats are ready for Winter, the long, spreading antlers of the bucks are at their best.

Your Health and Your Weight

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

THIN INDIVIDUALS OFTEN BIG EATERS

One of the things the overweight cannot understand is why a friend or even a member of his own family can eat much more food than he does, and yet remain slim and free from excess fat.

It seems only natural that an overweight individual, because of his size and his large skin surface measurements, should need more food than the thin individual. What the overweight does not realize is that his excess weight is made up mostly of fat tissue. Fat tissue is just like so much stored-up fuel—it neither does work nor creates heat. It is, therefore, what is called "inactive" tissue. On the other hand, the body of the thin individual is made up mostly of muscle tissue. Muscle tissue differs from fat tissue in that it is "active" rather than "inactive." This means that it uses up a lot of food when it works and so requires more food, weight for weight, than does fat tissue. The lean individual is more active, more inclined to be up and around on his feet, than is the overweight. He eats more food, and needs more food, because his extra activity burns up extra food.

What about the overweight? His large amount of fat, inactive tissue requires but a small amount of food to fill its needs, as it has not the nerves and blood vessels found in muscle tissue. And because of the excess fat on and in his body, he doesn't feel much like working or taking exercise. Every move he makes really means more effort than it would to the lean individual.

It is only fair to the overweight individual to state that big appetite, large amount of food eaten and great activity present in the lean individual are often due to an active, sometimes an overactive, thyroid gland in the neck. The juice of this gland speeds up all the body processes, making more food necessary.

In the very fat individual, the thyroid gland is often underactive and does not manufacture enough juice to use or burn up the food eaten. This surplus is stored in and on the body as fat. For this reason, if an overweight person follows a prescribed reducing diet faithfully for four to six weeks with little or no loss of weight, he should ask his physician about obtaining a metabolism test.

If the metabolism test shows that his body processes are working below normal rate of speed, his physician will prescribe thyroid extract so as to "speed up" his processes sufficiently to use up his surplus fat.

If the overweight, in addition to cutting down on his food intake, will increase his exercise, he will get quicker results.

Exercise will not only use up the excess fat but will replace this fat with muscle tissue. Muscle tissue gives the desire for work or exercise which prevents the accumulation of fat.

JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DIETS—LIQUID, SOFT, LIGHT

When we hear about some individual being on a diet, we usually have in mind a reducing diet in which the entire food intake, particularly fats and starches, is reduced, together with all liquids.

However, as stated before, there are other diets besides the reducing diet and even the up-building diet that physicians prescribe for special ailments. There is the diet rich in proteins (meat, eggs, fish) for building blood in anemia. There is also the diet for diabetics in which the starch foods (potatoes, sugar, bread) are greatly reduced, and still another diet in nervous diseases such as epilepsy in which the starches are reduced and the fats (butter, cream, fat meats) are increased.

There are as well, three other diets commonly prescribed by physicians for patients undergoing treatment at home in which ailments require a special diet. These are liquid, soft, and light. In her book "Nutrition and Physical Fitness," Dr. Jean Bogert gives an outline of liquid, soft or semi-solid, and light diets.

The Liquid Diet: The liquid diet is used when food needs to be given in the most easily digested form possible; that is, when an individual is decidedly weakened for any reason, in cases of general illness, following severe digestive upsets (vomiting, diarrhea), and in cases when the stomach and intestine are affected (stomach ulcer, typhoid fever). A liquid diet provides nourishment in a non-irritating, but not too concentrated form. It is best given in small amounts, often one glassful of some liquid nourishment every two hours. The foods generally used in a liquid diet are milk, cream, raw eggs. The foods used in liquid or fluid diet are (a) fruit juices; (b) soups, broths, clear soups and cream soups; (c) cereal gruels (thin); (d) milk, plain, modified or flavored with addition of cereal gruel, beaten egg, or coco; (e) raw eggs, in combination with milk, fruit juices or other liquid such as syphon soda.

The Soft Diet: The soft diet is half-way between the liquid and the light diet. It is less bulky than the liquid diet but is more easily digested than a light or solid diet and less likely to irritate lining of stomach and intestine. The foods used in the soft diet are: (a) any of the foods in the liquid diet; (b) cereals (thoroughly cooked) with top milk; (c) eggs in any easily digested form (soft boiled, poached, scrambled, omelette or souffle); (d) toast, thin crisp toast alone, softened with milk or broth, served with cream sauce, egg or puree of mild cooked vegetables; (e) simple desserts, junket, custard, blancmange, cereal puddings, ice cream, ices, sherberts, fruit whips, and gelatin desserts; (f) fruit juice or pulp of mild, cooked fruit (apple sauce).

The Light Diet: The light diet is really the ordinary or mixed diet eaten by the majority of people, leaving out, however, all foods that are hard to digest. The foods used in the light diet are: (a) nutritious soups and simple desserts; (b) stewed fruits and mild flavored cooked vegetables (pureed if necessary); (c) cereals, potatoes (baked or mashed), macaroni or rice, eggs, and small amounts of the more easily digested kinds of meat—chicken, lean fish (broiled, boiled or baked), chops (broiled), or roasts (beef or lamb).

This light diet is used when digestive system is not upset itself, that is in colds, fatigue, and recovering from a serious illness. The diet should be laxative to keep bowels regular—milk, cream, butter, eggs, bacon, olive oil, fruits, and green vegetables.

Might Be Good Idea To Let Wife Drive

By MURRAY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (NANA).—You men are not going to like this. It's a bitter pill to find among the holiday sweetmeats, but top authorities in the traffic and automobile safety field suggest it might be a good idea to let "the little woman" do the driving during the Christmas season.

That olden modern busybody, the scientific approach, has been at it again and, in effect, has come up with another A-bomb. The explosive new discovery is that women—jokes about lady drivers notwithstanding—are actually much safer drivers than men!

Because December, with its procession of festive days, runs second only to July and its glorious fourth in the annual toll of auto accidents, fatal and otherwise. The coming holidays assuredly bring on a period when wisdom dictates that the safest drivers should man—or woman—the nation's steering wheels.

GETTING BETTER

Not only have women been proved safer drivers than men; they seem to be getting better all the time.

Consider the younger generation first.

During the past 16 years, the safety department of the Farm Bureau Insurance Companies of Columbus, Ohio, has given demonstrations of accident-prevention and safe driving to 924,000 students in 1,200 high schools and colleges in this country's northeastern states.

Just recently, as part of this program, special tests on reaction, braking and stopping automobiles were made on 128 boys and 128 girls of high-school age. Using new and approved methods of measurement, here is what the experts found:

On reaction, 66.4 per cent of the girls were quicker than the boys. This means that, after the nerve impulse to stop, they were faster in moving the foot from the accelerator to the brake.

In braking distance, 67 per cent of the girls were quicker than the boys. This means they brought the vehicle to a stop more quickly than their masculine competitors—with 6 per cent tied and only 40 per cent of the boys faster than the girls.

CONTROL SUPERIOR

In total braking distance, 59 per cent of the girls showed superior control, as compared with the boys.

For a total stop to a car going 20 miles an hour, from the first warning impulse, the girls took an average of 38 feet, 7-1/2 inches; the boys needed an average of 40 feet, 4 1-2 inches. That is only one foot, nine inches statisticwise—but traffic experts saw such a narrow margin often can be the difference between life and death.

To get these answers, test cars are equipped with three revolvers loaded with yellow paint. The first goes off as a signal for the driver to stop—and yellow paint marks the highway. The second gun fires when the brakes are applied, again leaving a mark. The third gun shoots when the car stops—giving a full picture of the test in glaring yellow paint on the highway.

GOOD BUSINESS

The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies are old hands at the safety business, because it's good business for them. They are producers of the new talking picture, "Closed Book," the film which has attracted nationwide attention by its new approach to accident prevention. The unorthodox production attacks "the state of mind" which causes accidents and does it through the emotions—not charts and statistics—with a well-plotted screen play professionally acted by established Hollywood talent. The film, also rich in suspense and humor, is available on free loan to anyone who wants it.

And now—there as some upsetting discoveries about women beyond high school age. They are also safer drivers, it seems. Here are facts set forth by some other new and heavily documented statistics:

Women between the ages of 16 and 33 are less liable to traffic accidents and violations than men in the same age bracket.

Women are also superior chauffeurs, insofar as safety is concerned, between the ages of 41 and 53.

In between and beyond the age brackets mentioned, the males demonstrate an ever-so-slight advantage, but the feminine bracket obviously includes the ages in which most of the driving is done.

SHOULD AID DECISIONS

Aside from introducing the hazardous possibility of having to remind a woman of her age, the conclusions seem to draw a rather nice chart for "who's gonna-drive" decisions.

These calculations, released after long and systematic samplings of 7,692 cases, were made under direction of A. R. Lauer, professor of psychology and director of the driving laboratory in the industrial research institute of Iowa State College in Ames.

Most of Professor Lauer's studies were made with a view to determining how well a person should be able to drive before being issued a licence. In the procedure, he unearthed some interesting decisions.

Women, it was shown, have better attitudes toward traffic ordinances than men. This is important, he believes, because it also has been proved that potential skill alone does not mean safe driving; "the state of mind" is highly influential on our national record of dead and injured in motor accidents.

This, then, is one more reason why safety experts are somewhat excited over "A Closed Book," the new accident-prevention film. It aims at fathers, mothers and children of all ages. In dramatic, direct fashion, it attacks "the state of mind that leads to carelessness and bravado—too often to the injury and death of innocent people."

So, for the holidays, at least, consider letting the little women drive, even if you have to recheck on her age.

Withdrawal Prompts Review

Victoria Labor Council To Probe Municipal Act

The withdrawal of alderman-elect Roy Whittle from the 1951 City Council as a result of a technicality in the Municipal Act last night prompted an immediate investigation into the Act by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

C. A. Peck, president of the council, instructed the legislative committee of the council to review the act and report any changes it deemed necessary to the next meeting of the council.

A letter from the Victoria Peace Council, over the signature of M. Hall, was received and filed.

The letter requested president C. A. Peck retract his recent statement that the Victoria Peace Council was "Communist-dominated."

The meeting went on record as protesting the ruling that male civil servants over 45 and female over 40, cannot be hired.

It protested on the grounds that the Unemployment Insurance Commission is asking firms to hire people over that age.

"There shouldn't be an age limit for the civil service," said Mr. Peck.

Shortest Day Of Year Today

Tonight is the big night for owls, morning-paper newsmen, party-goers and other nocturnal creatures.

According to the calendar, today is the year's shortest. It might be wise to make the most of the few daylight hours allotted to Christmas shoppers today.

The sun is due to rise at 8.08 a.m. and set at 4.20 p.m. If it's dull, there will probably be less than eight hours of light.

To some, a day is still 24 hours, but for those who think of a day as meaning daylight, it will be a scarce item this December 21.

To the thousands of people in Western Canada who are now taking SARNAK INTERNAL MEDICINE or who have taken it and found relief from their suffering, the makers of SARNAK send their best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Victoria Tugs Leave West Coast In Home-for-Christmas Race

MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS

About 10 tugs from two Victoria firms are racing their home ports from West Coast towing operations in an attempt to have their crews home for Christmas, company officials announced yesterday.

Island Tug & Barge Limited announced its tug Island Navigator is now in Inside waters and steaming towards Victoria.

The crew from the barge Island Titan at Port Alice are taking a short cut home. They left by air for Victoria.

Four ships of the Victoria Tug Company Limited are also battling rough seas in their race for home for the holiday season. About 40 men are aboard the tugs.

Officials of both firms say all ships will be in port by Friday. The men are expected to be back to work the following Wednesday.

CRUISE SAILS

Indications are that the Royal Canadian Navy's training cruiser, H.M.C.S. Ontario, now undergoing a regular refit at Esquimalt, will sail for southern waters in the Spring.

Naval officials refused to confirm the report, but it is understood the ship will sail for Australia and New Zealand.

Final plans will depend to a great extent on the international situation at the time the ship is scheduled to sail.

SHIPS CLEARED

Harbor Master Capt. R. Newell announced yesterday that two deep-sea ships cleared Victoria harbor bound for Port Alberni to load lumber.

The Mv Jeanmere will take on her lumber cargo and sail for the United Kingdom and the Se Indore will sail for the East Coast of the United States.

DOCK OPENED

A new $150,000 asset to Victoria's waterfront in the form of a dock for the Federal Department of Transport was officially declared open for use yesterday by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, M.L.A.

In a brief dockside ceremony he told more than 30 local shipping and marine men present that it was just one of the important jobs that have recently been undertaken in the harbor area.

He cited the new fishermen's wharf and the dredging in the Inner Harbor.

"I expect dredging operations will be carried on in the Upper Harbor soon," he declared.

He said that when the dredging work was completed "we will have one of the finest harbors in Canada" and that it should help to attract ships to this port.

Rebuilding of the wharf-site was started last May by the Pacific Pile Driving Company, Limited. The dock was completely renovated and hard-surfaced.

Loads weighing up to 15 tons passed over the old wharf during the years and seriously weakened it. In the interest of safety the Government decided to rebuild it. All aids to navigation on the West Coast and lighthouse equipment are repaired at the new dock.

SEAMAN ILL

Leonard Thomas Rudmenskl, of Dunkirk, N.Y., 26-year-old seaman aboard the Union Oil tanker Victor B. Kelley, was removed from the ship yesterday after suffering an appendicitis attack.

The San Francisco Coast Guard office answered a call from the ship, on its way from Los Angeles to Whittier, Alaska, and a Coast Guard patrol boat met the tanker at the San Francisco lightship to remove the sailor.

He was taken to the San Francisco Marine Hospital and the tanker proceeded to Alaska.

Chiropractors Win Fight For Recognition by Board

Chiropractors won a 13 - year by the workers through their struggle yesterday when the Workmen's Compensation Board announced they will be placed on an equal footing with medical practitioners.

The decision is effective January 1.

On that date injured workers will be able to seek the services of a chiropractor if they wish and their services will be covered by the board.

Said Victoria's Dr. Thomas Mercer: "We've been working very hard for recognition, but I must say I think it has really been put over unions."

He said union men have been asking for years to be permitted to go to a chiropractor without first having to obtain a certificate from a medical doctor first.

This partial recognition was granted in 1943 following a recommendation of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, who served as a Royal Commissioner inquiring into the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Workers complained that this arrangement didn't work out well because medical doctors would not co-operate, Dr. Mercer said.

Navigation Near Record

Great Lakes Close Big Season

One of the busiest navigation seasons in recent years ended this week on the Great Lakes.

Marine men said they still were bottling up over-all tonnage figures. But a Canadian Press survey yesterday showed that the 1950 movement of grain and iron ore compared well with the big years of 1947, 1947 and 1948.

As the last lake freighters eased into Winter berths, leaving only a few oil tankers on the lower lakes still piling the great inland waterway, the Lake Superior Iron Ore Association in Cleveland reported that the vessels moved 76,205,681 gross tons of iron ore this year, or 8,649,412 tons more than in 1949. The record poorcliine year was 1948, when ore tonnage was 82,827,192.

Tonnage this year through the Sault Ste. Marie canals linking Lakes Superior and Huron was estimated at 105,922,667. That was surpassed only by the 1943 season, with the record of more than 130,000,000 tons, and by 1947 when total tonnage was roughly 111,000,000.

A late start—most ports saw the first ships of the season about April 20—curtailed this year's activities. But reasonably good weather at the end of the season helped the lake sailors. There were no marine disasters this year along the lakes.

Less grain than usual went into Winter storage at Sarnia, Port Colborne, Owen Sound and other ports. Shipping men attributed the decrease partly to a small wheat crop on the Prairies and partly to an unusually large amount of storage grain being handled at Buffalo, N.Y.

Toronto harbor officials said they expected about 40 ships to be in Winter berth there when the last vessel ties up. Port Colborne's Welfare fleet numbers 30, Port Weller's 17 and Hamilton's 11. Owen Sound will have eight large craft, Sarnia three and Sault Ste. Marie one.

The Sault Ste. Marie canals, both Canadian and American, have closed for the year. The Welland Canal between Lakes Erie and Ontario was officially closed Monday night but a few vessels were to be struggling oil tankers through the locks during daylight.

Trip Abroad Described By Straith

Hon. W. T. Straith, Minister of Education, spoke on his recent trip to Europe and the British Isles at the regular monthly meeting of the Belmont Avenue United Church Men's Club last night.

Illustrating his travelogue with colored slides, Mr. Straith took his listeners to some of the most beautiful, interesting and historical points in Britain, France, Italy and Switzerland.

Among his photographs were shots of the Parliament Buildings in London, the Tower of London, Kensington Gardens, and the Eiffel Tower.

The club choir sang two Christmas carols during the program. Donald Grey was chairman.

British Merchant Fleet Surpasses 1939 Tonnage

A vivid picture of how Britain has more than made good her lossy merchant shipping losses of the war is included in a report from the United Kingdom Information Office. The rebuilding of the merchant fleet is described as "one of the greatest achievement by British since the war."

In 1939 there were 3,500 ships of more than 100 tons gross on the United Kingdom register, and they totaled 18,000,000 tons. This included 2,000,000 tons of passenger and cargo liners, 3,000,000 tons of tankers and 4,300,000 tons of tramp ships.

Cost of the war to the merchant navy was no less than 11,250,000 tons of shipping—or approximately two-thirds of the 1939 tonnage. With allowance made for replacements, the total existing tonnage at the end of the war had been reduced to 13,200,000 tons. Fewest losses were felt in specialized liner tonnage.

Now, after five years, the total stands at 17,000,000 tons—100,000 tons above the pre-war figure. Cargo and passenger liners are still 1,000,000 tons below the pre-war total, but they are faster and carry more passengers. Tramp tonnage is up on 1939 by 200,000 tons, with an emphasis on larger ships. Tanker tonnage is up by 800,000 tons, and may reach a total of 5,000,000 tons by the end of 1951.

It is also noted there are fewer old ships now than in 1939. Nearly 70 per cent of the shipping on the United Kingdom register is less than 15 years old.

Council Urged To Follow Up Park Project

Development of the old Lansdowne airfield into a metropolitan park was urged this week at a Saanich Council meeting by Councillor Frank S. Green.

The councillor received unanimous support for his motion recommending to the incoming council the appointment of a committee to investigate the possibility of acquiring the area.

Councillor Green, who was defeated this year at the polls, said he has been working with Oak Bay and Victoria on the idea and has received favorable comment. His motion was seconded by Councillor W. C. Kersey who noted there "is not enough open space left in Victoria and district."

It was recalled by Councillor Leslie H. Passmore that the council this year asked for a price on the property but was informed by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation that it couldn't be sold.

"I think it would be well worth following up," concluded Councillor Green.

Opening of Legislature May Be Later Next Year

British Columbia Legislature may go into session several weeks later next year than has been customary over the past few years, it was learned yesterday. Usual date is early in February.

Little has been done so far in preparation for the session. Ordinarily, plans are well advanced by now.

The Provincial Cabinet has not yet reviewed the estimates of expenditures for the coming years from the various Government departments. Last year the big job of considering estimates was well under way at this time and the Cabinet was grimly trying to get department heads to cut the fat from their booming budgets.

It is expected that there will be a similar move this year and it may take several weeks before the Cabinet can agree on how much money the Province will spend in the coming year.

Early guesses are that the budget will exceed $112,000,000 or advance of $6,800,000 above last year.

Premier Byron Johnson is not expected back to his office until mid-January and it is likely that neither consideration of estimates or the Government's legislative program will advance much until he returns to gather up the reins again after his long stay in hospital following his Quebec automobile accident.

Williams Says He Won't Run In By-Election

Former Alderman Edward Williams yesterday denied emphatically rumors which said he would again seek a seat on City Council in the forthcoming by-election.

"I am definitely not going to be a candidate," declared Mr. Williams.

He retired from City Council last December following completion of 14 consecutive years as an alderman.

William H. Williams, manager of a local transfer company, has announced that he will be a candidate in the by-election, and Alderman Harold Diggon has indicated that he would run.

EDWARD WILLIAMS

The by-election is necessitated by the recent withdrawal of Alderman Roy Whittle due to lack of property qualifications in last Thursday's city elections. Mr. Whittle defeated Alderman Diggon at the polls.

MORE BATTALIONS

MANILA, Dec 20 (AP).—The Philippines Government today ordered an increase of 12,000 men—ten combat battalions—in the republic's army as the first step toward partial mobilization. Army authorities said additional troops were needed to cope with the threat to internal security by the Communist-led Hukbalahap guerrillas as well as possible threats from outside.

Nanaimo Delays By-Law To Raise Fees for Dogs

NANAIMO, Dec. 20—The city's new dog license by-law has been postponed for reconsideration. Mrs. Mary Pearse, president of the S.P.C.A., told the City Council there was considerable protest when fees were suggested as $3 and $5, instead of $1 and $3 as originally planned. She asked that the by-law be delayed for future study and said pensioners should be exempt.

Mrs. Pearse was told that the council had acted in increasing the fees, at least partially, on the grounds that the S.P.C.A. had appealed for more money, which the city had previously been unable to grant.

Mrs. Pearse said that in return for the increased fees something should have been offered, possibly a pound and poundkeeper.

Many Children Attend Party

HONEYMOON BAY, Dec. 20.—A total of 114 children attended the annual Christmas tree party and concert held by the Women's Club in the Community Hall. Jack Stothers, manager of Western Forest Industries, Ltd., opened the affair, and Miss Elaine Payne was master of ceremonies. Gifts were distributed by Peter Prumento.

A junior choir of 20 voices sang three items and Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, "Jingle Bells," and "Silent Night" were sung. Five members of the club staged a minstrel show. Sharon Wadin, seven, sang "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth."

Group Opposes Fee Suggested

CAMPBELL RIVER, Dec. 20.—Members of the Campbell River and District Chamber of Commerce thought there should be roadblocks and some form of license fee upon fishing to tidal waters, but felt the proposed $12 Government fee for non-residents was far too high.

It was decided to inform the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau that members considered the proposal ill-advised, as it would not solve the problem and might prove detrimental to the tourist industry.

It was agreed to support a request from the road committee of Camp Five, Bloedel, that the Provincial Department of Public Works be requested to repair Brewster Lake Road between the village of Campbell River and the camp.

SEER HARBOR WORK

A telegram will be sent to J. L. Gibson, M.P., advising him that a dredge is at present in operation at Duncan Bay, and requesting the possibility of having the equipment deepen Campbell River harbor while it is in the vicinity.

Mayor R. Cuthbert Holmes, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, will be invited to attend the annual meeting in January. A banquet will be arranged at a later date.

The three past presidents will form a committee to nominate a slate of officers for an election at the annual meeting.

Presents Play For Christmas

CAMPBELL RIVER, Dec. 20—Pupils of St. Peter's Anglican school and their parents filled the Rotary Front Hall at the annual Christmas party. Presentation of the Nativity highlighted the event. It was interspersed with readings for the Christmas story by Rev. M. M. Trwin. Those taking part included: Lorna Gray, Maurice Waldref, John Campbell, Glen Waldref, Berry King, Isobel Andrews, Elaine and Lorraine Wilkinson.

Carol singing was led by Mrs. Irwin, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. A. G. McLean. Santa Claus arrived to the tune of "Jingle Bells," and distributed gifts and bags of candy and nuts to the children. Refreshments were also served.

Village Helps Through Drive

CAMPBELL RIVER, Dec. 20—A subscription list is being circulated throughout the district by Frank Inkerhind and A. C. Lipp to raise funds for the widow and four small daughters of the late Walter Perrin of Campbell River, who was drowned on December 10 when the auto-mobile in which he and Ola Crog-land were riding plunged off Owens wharf.

Donations will also be received at the school board office and the office of The Campbell River Arrow. Arrangements are being made to hold a benefit dance for the family in the Willow Point Community Hall on January 12.

School Enjoys Annual Dinner

NANAIMO, Dec. 20—Annual Christmas banquet of the Dominion Provincial Vocational Training School brought a number of distinguished guests.

They included Maj.-Gen. C. F. Peardon, V.C., M.P., and Mrs. Peardon; H. A. Jones, provincial director of training; Mayor Earle C. Westwood; R. L. Campbell, acting deputy Minister of Education; Mrs. T. T. Fairey; Bruce Low, B.C. Logger Association, and J. H. Tyrwhitt and Elmer Bradshaw of Nanaimo.

Guests were shown through the school by Jack Macready, superintendent. Representatives of industries praised the training given and pledged continued support.

Alberni Wants Proper Credit

ALBERNI, Dec. 20—Ald. Joseph Fallowy believes credit should go where credit is due. He told the Alberni City Council of an error etched for posterity.

Words on a plaque, recently installed on a monument to the pulp and paper industry of British Columbia situated in front of the Bloedel pulp mill, give credit for provision of millstones for the monument to the City of Port Alberni.

Ald. Fallowy asked the council to write a letter to the management of the mill stating that the stones were donated by Alberni. They were obtained from the site of the old paper mill built on the Somass River in 1880.

Require Funds For Equipment

ALBERNI, Dec. 20—Alberni City Council was faced with the same proposition as Port Alberni. Before it is necessary to restrict the old $25,000 hospital by-law of 1946 before a plebiscite for $70,300 is put to ratepayers early next year.

A letter from the West Coast General Hospital board informed the council that it had been ascertained Government grants would cover one-third of the cost of equipping the new hospital. Alberni had expected to raise $70,300, or 37½ per cent of the $262,000 required. The amount now required from Alberni is $7,000 less.

Second Loader Hurt in Woods

CHEMAINUS, Dec. 20—John Damchin, a second loader at the Copper Canyon Camp of H. R. MacMillan Co., Ltd., suffered a compound fracture of the left leg when struck by a 46-foot boomstick. He was taken to Chemainus General Hospital and attended by Dr. Y. G. Stuart.

Equimalt & Nanaimo Railway follows north side of lake, and highway skirts southern portion. Sudden currents of air often cause high waves on lake.

Faces Dreary Christmas After Serious Accident

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 20—There will not be much of a Christmas for six-year-old Clifford McDonald, youngest son of Mrs. Pat McDonald, 1504 Mona Street, who is in hospital at Victoria with a serious eye injury.

A small knife, which the boy was using to carve wood, slipped and pierced his right eyeball.

Dr. A. L. Buell treated the injury, and on his advice the child was taken in Victoria for treatment by a specialist. No word has yet been received as to whether the eye can be saved.

The boy's father, the late T. A. McDonald, lost his life about a year ago when the taxi he was driving crashed through a wharf railing into Alberni Canal.

Clifford, three brothers, and their mother were expecting to move next week from their present home to a house which has recently been completed for them.

Obtains Action On Road Work

BRENTWOOD, Dec. 20—Customers for the store, coffee shop and garage, and passengers desiring and arriving on West Saanich buses had been greatly inconvenienced this Winter by the muddy, wet condition of Verdier Avenue at the ferry landing.

Saanich Chamber of Commerce appointed James H. Smethurst and A. L. Burden members of a committee to try to have the matter put to rights. They appealed to the Provincial Department of Public Works. H. F. Bourne, district engineer, sent trucks and men to the spot. They put in new ditches and spread gravel and blacktop, and a great improvement is already noticeable.

Cities Discuss Meat Control

ALBERNI, Dec. 20.—By-laws covering the sale of meat in Port Alberni and Alberni may be prepared shortly by city councils of the twin cities, at the suggestion of F. Graham, sanitary inspector.

Ald. Jack Lockhart, health committee chairman at Alberni, said that a plan was being prepared by the Central Vancouver Health Unit for a Government-approved slaughter house in the district. He noted the sanitary inspector had outlined the plan to council at one of his inspected meat in Alberni Valley.

If by-laws are passed, and a slaughter house established, a Government inspector would make regular visits to the district.

Cowichan Agricultural Society Fights Court Ruling on Indian Reserve Land

DUNCAN, Dec. 20—Loss to the community of services of Cowichan Agricultural Society is certain if the society loses its battle with the Dominion Government, according to Hamish Mutter, society president.

"The society is fighting tooth and nail for our rights," Mr. Mutter said, "and if we lose, we lose all. We will just become another farmers' institute and the public will be robbed of all the aid that we have made available to them."

The society stands to lose five acres of land which form part of the Indian reserve of the Somenos band of Cowichan Indians on which the agricultural hall the society built there. Federal action on October 31, in the form of an Exchequer Court of Canada ruling, invalidated the 1912 lease.

The society, formerly the Cowichan and Salt Spring Island Agricultural Society, began leasing this land from the Somenos Indians in 1886 and continued to do so until 1912. In 1913 a 99-year lease, dated October 16, 1912, was signed by the society.

SUIT FILED

In 1938 by Provincial order in council the title to all Indian reserve lands in British Columbia was settled in the name of the Dominion Government. In 1944 the Cowichan Agricultural Society asked for title to the land but it was not forthcoming. In 1946 the Indian Affairs Department filed suit, claiming that the lease was null and void. This year the Federal Exchequer Court upheld the claim of the Indian Affairs Department.

"It is very unfortunate that we should be faced with this loss now," said Mr. Mutter. "The society has never been so actively prosperous, nor in a position to do so much for the public."

Mr. Mutter said that if the society loses the land and the hall it faces bankruptcy. All improvements to the land will go by the board and all the society will have left will be the furniture.

The services of the society, which maintains a secretary six days a week will be denied the community.

The hall was started in 1912 and completed in 1913, became an armoury for the Government in the Great War and in the World War. Since 1929 it has housed reserve grain units.

The society, Mr. Mutter said, has been operating artificial insemination service as good as any in the province. It has handled its own powder magazine for the benefit of farmers in land clearing and in industrial development.

Each Winter the society has presented a series of weekly educational lectures for farmers, with beneficial results. The offices of the society have been a source of information and help and no one has ever been turned down.

"This is strictly a battle between the Dominion Government and the society," Mr. Mutter pointed out. "We have no quarrel with the Indians at all."

The Cowichan and Salt Spring Island Agricultural Society was born in Maple Bay in 1867. Annual exhibitions began at that time are still held in Duncan. The first agricultural hall was a 35 by 25-foot building ten feet high, built at Maple Bay in the early 1870's. In those days the North Cowichan municipal council held its meetings there. The building also housed the community library.

Favors Change In Pension Act

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 20—Old age pensions for men at the age of 65 and for women at the age of 60 are favored by James Mowat, M.L.A., for Alberni.

This information was conveyed to members of the Port Alberni Women's Liberal Association at their December meeting, at which Mr. Mowat spoke on "The Welfare of Our People". He described what had been done in the past ten years for the people, and gave his ideas on what must be done in the future.

William Johnstone, president of the Port Alberni Liberal Association, stressed the fact that women Liberals would be given equal representation on Federal as well as local and provincial groups at the convention in March.

Service on Sunday

ALBERNI, Dec. 20—George Clinton, well-known Indian artist and lecturer, will conduct the evening service in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday. Music will be provided by a choir of Indian children under the direction of Miss Leola and Miss Merla Bennett.

Suggests Tax Cut

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 20—Trustees of Alberni School District No. 70 received word from the Provincial Department of Education that the rural tax requisition would be restricted in a total of $82,500 next year. The department suggested that an effort be made to reduce the amount.
